Goldwater Blasts LBJ's 'Neon' Budget

President Tries To Finagle Votes, Senator Claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater charged Friday that President Johnson was trying to buy votes with a "tinsel and neon" budget. He said Johnson was "not a builder, but a taker."

The Arizona Republican also criticized Johnson for accepting a $580 stereo record player in 1959 from Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, former Senate official whose outside business activities are being investigated by a Senate committee.

STEREO QUERY

Goldwater said that if any aide of his had given him such a gift he would have asked "Where did you get that, Buster?"

Goldwater, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told a crowd of about 1,000 at a Young Republican campaign school that Johnson "should stand accused... of trying to buy votes by the most deceptive budget of our time."

"The man who proposed the budget is no conservative," he said. "Those who see conservatism in President Johnson see a pitchman's image of conservatism but no real conservatism."

Goldwater covered a wide range of topics in his speech and in an earlier television appearance. He was the third big-name GOP speaker at the five-day meeting, following Michigan Gov. George Romney and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller who spoke Thursday.

His was the most enthusiastic reception from the Young Republicans, although the school does not purport to represent a cross-section of the party.

A score of "Goldwater girls" wearing campaign hats and sashes started a chant of "We want Barry," and most of the audience took it up.

U.S. Cautions China To Avoid French Break

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States strongly advised Nationalist China Friday to avoid a quick break in relations with France when President Charles De Gaulle recognizes the Chinese Communist regime next week.

The De Gaulle move, expected about Tuesday, threatens to trigger a crisis in Far Eastern diplomacy as well as intensify the strain which already exists in U.S.-French relations.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk took time from last-minute preparations for a trip to Japan to receive Nationalist China's Ambassador, Dr. Tingfu F. Tsiang. The envoy asked to see Rusk for consultation on the impending French move. Immediately following the meeting, Rusk left for Tokyo and a one-day visit to Korea.

De Gaulle has sent word to President Johnson that the deal he has made with Red China does not call for a break in French relations with Nationalist China. This, De Gaulle is understood to feel, may open the way for a two-China solution of the whole Chinese problem. Nationalist China and Red China each has refused to have full diplomatic ties with a nation recognizing the rival China. If France achieves a dual-relation status it will be the first major power to do so.

U.S. officials have decided, it was learned, that the two-China theory advanced by De Gaulle may prove embarrassing to Paris and they see no reason why a quick break by the Chinese Nationalists should get

Nehru Stand-In Begins Working

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Lal Bahadur Shastri began his duties Friday as deputy-aiding political officer apparent-to-aiding Prime Minister Nehru.

A mild-looking but toughly effective man standing 5 feet 2, Shastri moved into the office next door to the vacant office of Nehru, 74.

Ranks of the ruling Congress party closed in almost unanimous support for Shastri, who is 59. A believer in the ideological midroad, he is widely liked by both right and left of Indian politics.

BRITONS QUELL REBELS

African Troops Mutiny In Kenya

LONDON (AP) — African troops of the Kenya Rifles mutinied Friday night at a camp 100 miles north of Nairobi, the Kenya capital, the Commonwealth Relations Office reported today.

Kenya thus became the fourth nation of old British East Africa to become involved in upheavals in less than two weeks.

The Commonwealth office said the Kenya uprising was at Nakuru but it was unable to confirm reports that other troops mutinied at Kahawa, five miles outside Nairobi.

There were army mutinies earlier this week in Tanganyika and Uganda and an armed rebellion in Zanzibar a week previously.

The Commonwealth spokesman said of the Nakuru mutiny: "I understand British troops are on the spot and have the situation under control."

Britain, at Kenya Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta's request, was flying in 800 Royal Marine commandos.

British troops already in Kenya were reported to have been rushed to two airports in Nairobi and airlifted to Nakuru, where the Kenya army's 11th Battalion is stationed.

BAKER'S FANCY HOUSE

Few Buyers Want Lavender Carpets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fancy $28,800 town house that Robert G. Baker turned over to his ex-beauty queen secretary and a couple of other girls—or was it one other girl?—is up for sale but nobody is buying.

The trouble seems to be, Senate investigators were told Friday, that the French wallpaper and the lavender wall-to-wall carpeting are a bit too much for most prospects.

C. W. Taylor, president of the cooperative housing development that built the 4-bedroom, 2-bath house, told the Senate Rules Committee he has been trying to sell Baker's unit since Dec. 10, but without any luck.

"I have not been inside the house, and I am glad to say it," Taylor said, but his manager tells him most prospective buyers pull up short when they spot the "rather elaborate and extravagant furnishings" on which Baker spent some $6,000 or more.

It's not that Baker wants to sell the house, Taylor said, but the 3rd Royal Horse Guards had arrived at one of the trouble-stricken camps and had secured the armory and other strategic buildings. They were also said to have taken over the officers' mess where British officers of the Kenya Rifles had gathered. Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys told Parliament on Friday that Kenya's premier had asked for the help of the British army in case of an emergency.

Marshal Serves Suit Papers To Integrate NLSC

BATON ROUGE (AP)—U.S. Marshal Tom Grace served top state education officials Friday with copies of a suit to desegregate Northeast Louisiana State College.

Grace handed papers for the suit to State Supt. Shelby M. Jackson and William J. Dodd, who ended his term Friday as president of the State Board of Education.

The suit was filed for Sarah McCoy, Monroe Negro woman, who seeks to enter the previously all-white state college at the beginning of the second semester.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People filed the suit.

A hearing on a request for an injunction has been requested of U. S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West.

RFK Views Malaysia Unalarmed

Despite Threats Upon Federation By Indonesians

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Friday he believes the Indonesians will respect a newly arranged truce with Malaysia despite President Sukarno's public profession of continued hostility toward the young federation.

Half a world away in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman similarly viewed without alarm the Sukarno postscript to Kennedy's mediation efforts.

'CRUSH MALAYSIA'

Rahman told newsmen that Sukarno, in proclaiming continuation of his "Crush Malaysia" campaign before a Communist-supported youth rally in Jakarta Thursday night, was addressing a mob.

"I don't take what he said very seriously," Rahman said. The Malaysian leader suggested that, if Sukarno intends to continue his confrontation policy as a cold war, the new meaning should be spelled out at the conference of Indonesian, Philippine and Malaysian foreign ministers to be held the first week of February in Bangkok, Thailand.

The agreement to hold that conference and orders for a cease-fire in the undeclared war on the Malaysian-Indonesian frontiers in Borneo developed from peace talks Kennedy conducted in Tokyo, Manila, Kuala Lumpur and Jakarta.

Kennedy flew to London Friday to brief British officials on his mission. The British are vitally interested because they have pledged Malaysia military protection against any aggression and they have business investments in both Malaysia and Indonesia.

Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler and Kennedy met to discuss the situation. Butler said the British government welcomes the cease-fire and told reporters:

"All we want to be quite sure of is the independence and integrity of Malaysia."

Kennedy told reporters he believes Sukarno will act in good faith and that Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines will make a serious effort in Bangkok to resolve their differences.

"I never assumed that President Sukarno had given up his opposition to Malaysia, but I hope that position will be modified through conference and discussion," Kennedy said.

The cease-fire is expected to take a week to organize since the troops on both sides are scattered over some of the world's wildest terrain. Britain is keeping 6,000 troops deployed in defense of Malaysia.

Malaysia is composed of four former British colonies—Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and Sabah. The Indonesians claim it was organized to maintain British colonial influence in Southeast Asia—a charge the British deny.

Fair, Cooler Area Outlook

Fair and cool weather will prevail in the twin cities area today and Sunday.

Skies started clearing here Friday afternoon after rains which resulted in .81 of an inch of precipitation. This raised the total rainfall so far in January to 3.50 inches.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said an eastward moving cold front would keep high temperatures today in the Twin Cities area in the 50-55 degree range. Friday's high reading was a mild 71.

Temperatures tonight are predicted to fall into the freezing zone of 26 to 30 degrees. Winds today will be northwesterly at 10 to 20 miles an hour, diminishing tonight.

Both Sides Okay Talks Slated Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. and Panamanian officials agreed Friday to a meeting today which may lead to early negotiations aimed at ending the dispute over the Panama Canal.

The Inter-American Peace Committee announced late Friday that the session will be held at 9 a.m. today at the Organization of American States. This raised hopes that the two governments are ready to sit down and make a serious effort to settle the differences which were climaxed two weeks ago in violence which took more than 20 lives.

MEET POSTPONED

A U.S.-Panama meeting had been scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Friday but this was postponed at Panama's request to allow more time for examination of a negotiations formula advanced Thursday night by the peace committee.

President Johnson and Panama's President Roberto Chiari both indicated in statements Thursday, they are seeking a compromise way out of the deadlock. Their statements followed an intensive round of activities by the committee including a meeting with Johnson.

After talking to Johnson Thursday morning the committee called U.S. and Panamanian negotiators to OAS headquarters Thursday night to join in new talks.

It was the first meeting of U.S. and Panamanian negotiators since an earlier agreement fell apart shortly after being signed Jan. 15.

Geneva Talks Consider Halt On Plutonium

GENEVA (AP)—Negotiations to halt the production of plutonium for nuclear weapons may be the first concrete result from President Johnson's arms control plan, Western officials said Friday.

The officials reported the Soviet Union, anxious to reduce its military spending, has expressed an interest in Johnson's idea to shut down weapons reactors under "mutual inspection." The Russians mentioned plutonium reactors.

In private talks with Western delegates at the 17-nation disarmament conference, Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin also has said he is willing to discuss a possible limitation of military budgets by mutual agreement.

Such an agreement was not specifically referred to in Johnson's five-point plan released this week. But American officials were interested in the idea. Tsarapkin told the conference earlier this week that the recent cut in the U.S. defense budget created a favorable atmosphere for resumed disarmament negotiations.

Tsarapkin and other Soviet bloc delegates have raised objections or unacceptable conditions to most of the other proposals put forward by Johnson, such as a verified freeze of the production and improvement of vehicles to deliver nuclear warheads.

Tsarapkin's first formal comment on the plan is expected to be delivered in a conference session Tuesday. He told news-

2 Senators From South Backing LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida urged Southerners on Friday night to look beyond the civil rights controversy and support the Democratic party in November.

Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia appealed for backing for President Johnson's programs other than the civil rights legislative package he inherited from the late President John F. Kennedy.

The two Democratic senators, both long-time friends of Johnson, made these appeals in separate speeches.

Russell, one of the most influential Senators, said in a speech at a Valdosta, Ga., dinner he regrets that Johnson "has seen fit to embrace in toto the civil rights program of his predecessor."

"The new president, understandably, is undertaking to make a record that he can take to the people next November in the time that he has available," Russell said. "Let anyone forget, this is an election year, and we can expect the political pressures to intensify as the national conventions and the fall election campaign approach."

"Convinced they have the disease, they visit their doctor and even request the treatment they saw administered on TV."

CURRENT FISCAL YEAR

State Treasurer Predicts Surplus

By SAM HANNA
Political Editor

Treasurer A. P. Tugwell said Friday the state should end the current fiscal year with a surplus, but he didn't have any idea of what the financial picture would be for the new administration.

Tugwell, in a telephone interview, said a forecast for next year's finances couldn't be made until the legislative budget committee completes its work.

"The money looks all right for this year," he said. "Everything's safe. I think there will be a credit balance."

The current fiscal year ends June 1st, or about two weeks after Gov. Jimmie H. Davis leaves office. A new governor and Legislature will take office May 12.

Tugwell, a 28-year veteran, said the legislative budget committee headed by Sen. W. J. Cleveland of Crowley was preparing a budget to be submitted to the new administration.

Several of the budget committee members are going out of office at the end of the term.

Tugwell said, however, that he didn't anticipate a bigger income of revenue next year, then chucked as he said, "You know, we're not supposed to have any increase in taxes."

The current budget exceeded $900-million while the next budget probably will surpass the billion-dollar mark for the first time in Louisiana history.

SMALL ORGAN FAILS

Doctors Make First Heart Transplant

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Surgeons took the heart from a dead man, revived it and transplanted it into the chest of a man dying of heart failure Friday.

For an hour, it worked—perhaps the first successful human heart transplant in the world. Then the substitute heart failed and the patient died.

"The dimensions of the only available donor heart at the time of the patient's collapse proved too small for the requirements of the considerably larger recipient," a spokesman said. "This disparity must be minimized in future operations."

The spokesman added the surgeons were "gratified to confirm that procedures previously worked out in the experimental laboratory are effective in man."

Surgeons at the University of Mississippi Medical Center here performed the operation. The hospital declined to dis-

Can a Democrat vote for Republican candidates in the March and general election? (Repton the difference between a general election and a primary election.)

The answer to the question is: A Republican can vote in a general election without regard to party affiliation.

A primary election is held by the party to select its nominees for the general election. In Louisiana, the primary serves the same purpose as the state and local level, that the nation at large conventions serve in selecting candidates for president and vice president.

Republicans are also permitted to hold primary elections to select nominees in Louisiana. And any time there are more than one public candidates for an office, there are no exceptions. If, however, only the number of candidates qualify as there are positions to be filled, then they are declared party nominees and no primary is necessary. So, candidates selected in the Democratic primary on Oct. 11 are only the nominees of their party. They now must face the general election. Since only Democrats can vote in a Democratic primary, they have not previously faced the entire electorate.

In a general election, all registered voters, regardless of party, can vote. And for the candidate of their choice, regardless of his party. So, if you are a registered Democrat and think the Republican candidate is the better choice on March 3rd, you may vote Republican. Or, if you are a Republican and think the Democratic nominee for a particular office is the best choice, then you can vote for the Democratic candidate.

If there are both Republican candidates and Democratic candidates running for one office where there is more than one position to be filled (such as the police jury in ward 16 of Ouachita Parish where there are four seats to be filled), and you want to vote for some Democrats and some Republicans, you may do so. For instance, if you think that three of the Democratic candidates must nearly fit your specifications for the police jury and one Republican fits more nearly your choice, you may vote for three Democrats and one Republican as a return courtesy, they at for the four seats. You do not intend.

Recently your paper ran a picture of ground-breaking ceremonies for the new St. Frederick Central Catholic High School to be built in Monroe. In the picture were certain officials of the public schools. Are the public school systems in Ouachita Parish and Monroe building the Catholic school or sharing in the expense?

No, they are not. The officials were invited by the Catholic church as guests at the ceremony. The Catholic church is the one building the school. The public schools are not sharing in the expense.

If a group of parents would like an elementary school principal removed, what procedure does the Monroe City School Board recommend?

The state law on teacher removal outlines offenses for which a teacher can be removed and the law is specific. If you believe a teacher principle in this case has violated the tenure law and needs to be removed, contact some member of the board with your grievance.

I plan to build a home in Ruston and own a lot already. Who should I contact or what should I do about securing Federal Housing Administration financing for the home?

A local FHA representative advised that you contact one of the mortgage servicing agencies. Any reputable dealer can direct you to one. Or, since a builder's plans must be completed before FHA will approve a home, you could select a builder and tell him what you want, where you want it, and he will take the necessary steps. He will know just what you must do.

Are precinct 3 of ward 10 and precinct 12 of ward 5 in Ouachita Parish predominantly colored precincts?

Precinct 3 in ward 10 is a colored box. There are only 30 white voters registered at this precinct. However, precinct 12 in ward 5 is a white box with 66 Negroes registered there. The two colored boxes in ward 5 are precincts 3 and 9.

What was the date of Easter Sunday in 1967?

In 1967, Easter was on March 31.

What day of the week did the following dates fall on: June 28, 1918; Nov. 20, 1920; Aug. 3, 1924; July 30, 1964; March 1, 1967; May 18, 1911?

They are: June 28, 1918, Friday; Nov. 20, 1920, Saturday; Aug. 3, 1924, Tuesday; July 30, 1964, Saturday; March 1, 1967, Friday; May 18, 1911, Thursday.

Has President Johnson served in the armed forces at any time? If so, in what service and for how long?

President Johnson just this week resigned his commission as a Commander in the Navy Reserve. He served on active duty during World War II and won a Silver Star.

If John Doe has a son named John Doe Jr., how does John Doe Sr. legally sign his name?

According to a local legal authority, if the son has been christened John Doe Jr. and the name thusly recorded on the birth certificate, this becomes his legal name and there is no legal compulsion for the father to be designated as John Doe Sr., although it is almost universal custom in such circumstances for the father to assume the title "Sr." for the purpose of immediate distinction.

Is it legal for a man to borrow money from a finance company without the wife's signature or knowledge?

Yes, it is legal.

Who was Amerigo Vespucci and what role did he play in history?

Vespucci, who lived during the years 1454-1512, was a famous Italian merchant, seaman and navigator of the time of Christopher Columbus.

Associated early in his business career with the historic Medici family, he was working with one of the family's shipping firms in Seville, Spain, when Columbus returned from his first well-known voyage.

He helped and became personally acquainted with the explorer in fitting out ships for second and third voyages to the New World. Later, between 1497 and 1504, Vespucci himself made several trips, which resulted in convincing evidence that the land found by Columbus was not India and the East Indies, which he sought, but an unknown continent. While Columbus' fame was greater, America, both North and South, was named for Amerigo Vespucci.

He was a skilled navigator and, in 1508, was named chief navigator of Spain's powerful Commercial House for the West Indies, a post he held until his death.

C. H. (SAMMY) DOWNS

Demo Party Leader Trained With Long

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP)—C. H. (Sammy) Downs, Louisiana's new Democratic party chairman, is a seasoned performer in state politics trained in the late Gov. Long's senate floor leaders during the 1948-52 regime, when McKeithen was Long's House floor whip.

Downs lost his Senate post to Cecil Blair in 1952, grabbed it back in 1956, then faded as the Senate pendulum swung back to Blair again in 1960. Downs later lost by 46 votes to Jean Pharis for district attorney in Alexandria.

The tall, slender, 52-year-old Democratic chairman has thinning blond hair, blue eyes, and a smooth voice. Sometimes, when in a hurry he talks with a cigar clutched in his teeth, just to way the movies would picture a politician.

Downs' family includes two girls and a boy. A native of Effie, Downs was raised in Pineville and taught school in Glenmora and Cheneyville for 10 years.

As a House member in 1944, Downs began attending law school at Louisiana State University. He won scholastic honors.

In a moment of Louisiana political history, Downs played a key role.

In 1950, a New Orleans newspaper, the item, had carried an editorial calling the legislature "trained seals" and "lackeys."

A Senate resolution bopped up, summoning editor Clayton Fritchey for a contempt hearing.

Downs was appointed to head the special committee which conducted the hearing.

Downs was appointed to head the special committee which conducted the hearing.

In the windup, a Senate bill was introduced to require newspapers to print replies to criticisms. But the Senate decided to kill it.

Parish School Officials Plan To Attend Meet

Three officials of the Ouachita Parish school system will be in Hammond Monday through Wednesday to attend the annual Mid-Winter Conference of the Louisiana School Supervisors' Association.

They are Asst. Supt. P. B. Mangum, Elementary Supervisor J. M. Waldrop and Mrs. Tina Clark, supervisor of guidance and special services.

Featuring the theme, "The Role of Supervision in the Process of Education," the conference will be held on the campus of the University of Southeastern Louisiana.

It is being sponsored by the association, the university and the Louisiana Education Department.

Registration at 8:30 a. m. Monday will precede the opening of the first general session by Association President Henry Mayfield and a welcome from Dr. Luther H. Dyson, Southeastern president.

Special papers will be presented at five general sessions throughout the three days. Among them will be: "Orientation for Class Visitation," "The Nature of Intuition in Productive Thinking," "The Desire to Learn and How It May Be Stimulated," "Readiness for Learning and How It May Be Made Central in Teaching."

Remarks will be made on these subjects by the following officials of the Department of Education: mathematics, Dr. Ollie B. Fuglaar; science, Howard P. McCollum; language, Mrs. Lavinia McNeely; social studies, Murray I. Jones; fine and applied arts, Elton A. Lamkin.

U.S. Allies Wary On French Move With Red Chinese

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. allies in step Indonesia, Burma and Ceylon have reacted cautiously to all have ties with Peking and are unlikely to object.

With recognition due next week, even Nationalist China—the nation most deeply involved—has yet to make clear publicly what steps it will take, if any, against France.

A government spokesman for the Nationalists announced in Taipei that a strong protest had been lodged with Paris and warned that France would be "accountable for the grave consequences that would follow."

The consequences were not spelled out. Reports from Formosa say the Nationalists have been informing friendly nations they will break relations with France. But other accounts say Washington has been urging President Kai-shek to sit tight and leave the next move to France.

South Viet Nam's Council of Notables, a government advisory body, has recommended that the military junta sever relations with France. While the junta opposes France's suggestion that all Viet Nam be neutralized, it has taken no public stand on the impending French decision.

South Korea's foreign ministry issued a statement calling French recognition "an extremely regrettable act," but it said nothing of diplomatic countermeasures.

The Philippines has maintained official silence. This is somewhat unusual because the Philippines is one of the most anti-Communist countries in Asia.

America's most powerful industrial friend in Asia, Japan, has refused either to condemn France's initiative or to approve it. It maintains ties with Nationalist China but wants to increase its trade with the mainland.

Sanzo Nosaka, chairman of Japan's Communist party, got the brushoff in the upper house of Parliament from Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda Friday when he demanded that Japan follow France's example and recognize Red China. Ikeda replied that his government has no intention of abrogating its treaty with Nationalist China.

As for Red China itself, it has reacted to the French move in a typical way by not reacting at all publicly. Not a word on the subject has appeared in the official news and propaganda services.

Elsewhere in Asia, the new state of Malaysia is expected to deplore the French approach on the ground it will strengthen Red Chinese influence in Southeast Asia.

Only Cambodia of the non-aligned nations has expressed open support for the French move.

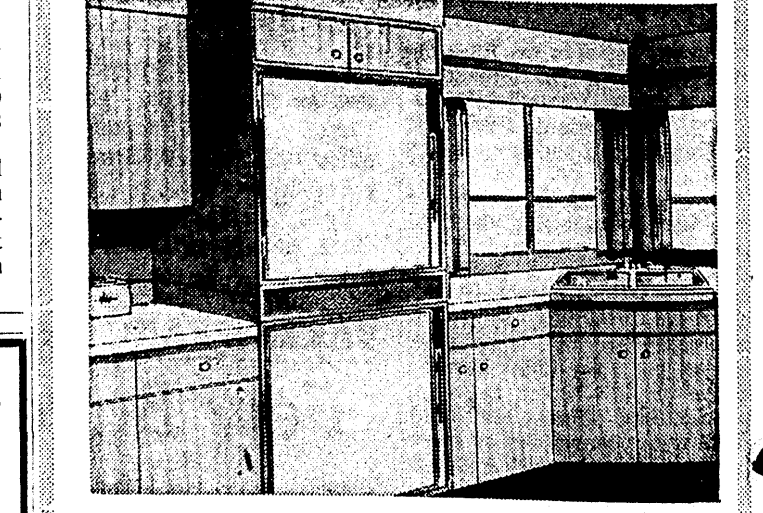

Johnson, who underwent an operation for cancer last March was operated on last week to have a lymph gland removed from his left groin as a "precautionary measure."

Can a Democrat vote for Republican candidates in the March 3rd general election? Explain the difference between a general election and a primary election.

The answer to the question is yes. A Republican or Democrat can vote in a general election without regard to party affiliation.

A primary election is one held by the party to select its nominee for the general election. In Louisiana, the primary serves the same purpose (at the state and local level) that the national party conventions serve in selecting candidates for President and vice president.

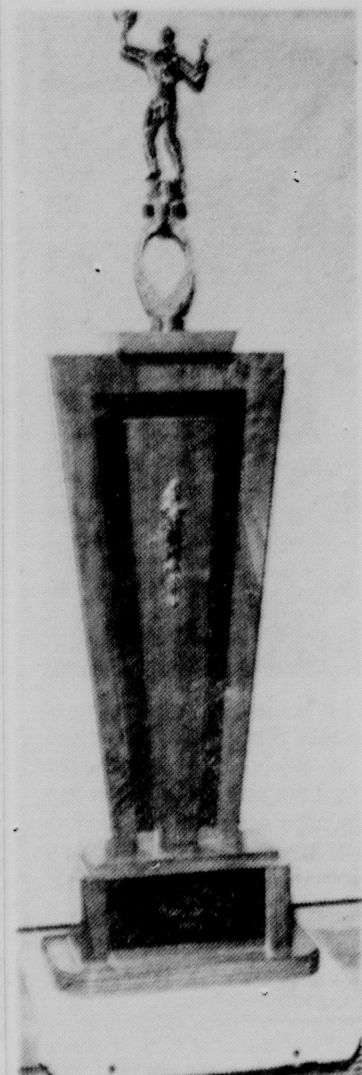

Republicans are also required to hold primary elections to select nominees in Louisiana. And any time there are more Republican candidates for an office than there are vacancies, then a primary must be held. If, however, only the number of candidates qualify as there are positions to be filled, then they are declared party nominees and no primary is necessary. So, candidates selected in the Democratic primary on Jan. 11 are only the nominees of their party. They now must face the general electorate. Since only Democrats can vote in a Democratic primary, they have not previously faced the entire electorate.

In a general election, all registered voters, regardless of party, can vote — and for the candidate of their choice, regardless of his party. So, if you are a registered Democrat and think the Republican candidate is the better choice on March 3rd, you may vote Republican. Or, if you are a Republican and think the Democratic nominee for a particular office is the best choice, then you can vote for the Democratic candidate.

If there are both Republican candidates and Democratic candidates running for one office where there is more than one position to be filled (such as the police jury in ward 10 of Ouachita Parish where there are four seats to be filled) and you want to vote for some Democrats and some Republicans, you may do so. For instance, if you think that three of the Democratic candidates most nearly fit your specifications for the police jury and one Republican is more nearly your choice, then you can vote for three Democrats and one Republican for the four seats. You do not have to vote a "straight ticket" in elections such as this.

Would you please print a picture of the trophy the Northeast Louisiana State College basketball team won during the Christmas tournament at Louisiana Tech in Ruston? Here is the trophy:

Recently your paper ran a picture of ground-breaking ceremonies for the new St. Frederick Central Catholic High School to be built in Monroe. In the picture were certain officials of the public schools. Are the public school systems in Ouachita Parish and Monroe building the Catholic school or sharing in the expense? No, they are not. The officials were invited by the Catholic diocese as guests at the ceremonies as a courtesy and as a return courtesy, they attended.

If a group of parents would like an elementary school principal removed, what procedure does the Monroe City School Board recommend? The state law on teacher tenure outlines offenses for which a teacher can be removed and the law is specific. If you believe a teacher (principle in this case) has violated the tenure law and needs to be removed, contact some member of the board with your grievance.

I plan to build a home in Ruston and own a lot already. Who should I contact or what should I do about securing Federal Housing Administration financing for the home?

A local FHA representative advised that you contact one of the mortgage servicing agencies. Any reputable realtor can direct you to one. Or, since a builder's plans must be completed before FHA will approve a home, you could select a builder and tell him what you want, where you want it, and he will take the necessary steps. He will know just what you must do.

Are precinct 8 of ward 10 and precinct 12 of ward 5 in Ouachita Parish predominantly colored precincts?

Precinct 8 in ward 10 is a colored box. There are only 30 white voters registered at this precinct. However, precinct 12 in ward 5 is a white box with no Negroes registered there. The two colored boxes in ward 5 are precincts 8 and 9.

What was the date of Easter Sunday in 1907? In 1907, Easter was on March 31.

If John Doe has a son named John Doe Jr., how does John Doe Sr. legally sign his name?

According to a local legal authority, if the son has been christened John Doe Jr. and the name thusly recorded on the birth certificate, this becomes his legal name and there is no legal compulsion for the father to be designated as John Doe Sr., although it is almost universal custom in such circumstances for the father to assume the title "Sr." for the purpose of immediate distinction.

C. H. (SAMMY) DOWNS

Demo Party Leader Trained With Long

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP)—C. H. (Sammy) Downs, Louisiana's new Democratic party chairman, is a seasoned performer in state politics trained in the Earl K. Long School.

He's lost a couple of elections — won a couple. This time, he was a key backer of John J. McKeithen's successful try for the Democratic nomination for governor.

On presidential politics — now that the Alexandria attorney heads the 105-member central committee — Downs is mum right now. That's McKeithen strategy.

Downs himself has never taken an active part in a presidential race.

The former state senator from Alexandria was one of the late Gov. Long's senate floor leaders during the 1948-52 regime, when McKeithen was Long's House floor whip.

Downs lost his Senate post to Cecil Blair in 1952, grabbed it back in 1956, then faded as the Senate pendulum swung back to Blair again in 1960. Downs later lost by 46 votes to Jean Pharis for district attorney in Alexandria.

The tall, slender, 52-year-old Democratic chairman has thinning blond hair, blue eyes, and a smooth voice. Sometimes, when in a hurry, he talks with a cigar clutched in his teeth, just to way the movies would picture a politician.

Downs' family includes two girls and a boy. A native of Effie, Downs was raised in Pineville and taught school in Glenmora and Cheneyville for 10 years.

As a House member in 1944, Downs began attending law school at Louisiana State University. He won scholastic honors.

In a moment of Louisiana political history, Downs played a key role.

In 1950, a New Orleans newspaper, the Item, had carried an editorial calling the legislature "Trained seals" and "lackeys." A Senate resolution hobbled up, summoning editor Clayton Fritchey for a contempt hearing.

Downs was appointed to head the special committee which conducted the hearing.

Downs was appointed to head the special committee which conducted the hearing.

In the windup, a Senate bill was introduced to require newspapers to print replies to criticisms. But the Senate decided to kill it.

Parish School Officials Plan To Attend Meet

Three officials of the Ouachita Parish school system will be in Hammond Monday through Wednesday to attend the annual Mid-Winter Conference of the Louisiana School Supervisors' Association.

They are Asst. Supt. P. B. Mangum, Elementary Supervisor J. M. Waldrop and Mrs. Tina Clark, supervisor of guidance and special services.

Featuring the theme, "The Role of Supervision in the Process of Education," the conference will be held on the campus of the University of Southeastern Louisiana.

It is being sponsored by the association, the university and the Louisiana Education Department.

Registration at 8:30 a. m. Monday will precede the opening of the first general session by Association President Henry Mayfield and a welcome from Dr. Luther H. Dyson, Southeastern president.

Special papers will be presented at five general sessions throughout the three days. Among them will be: "Orientation for Class Visitation," "The Nature of Intuition in Productive Thinking," "The Desire to Learn and How It May Be Stimulated," "Readiness for Learning and How It May Be Made Central in Teaching."

Remarks will be made on these subjects by the following officials of the Department of Education: mathematics, Dr. Ollie B. Fuglaar; science, Howard P. McCollum; language, Mrs. Lavinia McNeely; social studies, Murray I. Jones; fine and applied arts, Elton A. Lamkin.

Lyndon Johnson For Goldwater

MANKATO, Minn. (AP)—Lyndon Johnson urged Friday that Sen. Barry Goldwater be elected president.

This is Lyndon Eric Johnson, a college junior who'll be 21 Oct. 9, and intends to vote for Goldwater if he is the Republican nominee.

Minnesota's Lyndon posed for pictures in 1960 with President Lyndon B. Johnson, but said that won't make any difference when he turns voting age.

U.S. Allies Wary On French Move With Red Chinese

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. allies in Asia have reacted cautiously to the French decision to recognize Red China.

With recognition due next week, even Nationalist China—the nation most deeply involved—has yet to make clear publicly what steps it will take, if any, against France.

A government spokesman for the Nationalists announced in Taipei that a strong protest had been lodged with Paris and warned that France would be "accountable for the grave consequences that would follow."

The consequences were not spelled out. Reports from Formosa say the Nationalists have been informing friendly nations they will break relations with France. But other accounts say Washington has been urging President Kai-shek to sit tight and leave the next move to France.

South Viet Nam's Council of Notables, a government advisory body, has recommended that the military junta sever relations with France. While the junta opposes France's suggestion that all Viet Nam be neutralized, it has taken no public stand on the impending French decision.

South Korea's foreign ministry issued a statement calling French recognition "an extremely regrettable act," but it said "nothing of diplomatic countermeasures."

The Philippines has maintained official silence. This is somewhat unusual because the Philippines is one of the most anti-Communist countries in Asia.

America's most powerful industrial friend in Asia, Japan, has refused either to condemn France's initiative or to approve it. It maintains ties with Nationalist China but wants to increase its trade with the mainland.

Sanzo Nosaka, chairman of Japan's Communist party, got the brushoff in the upper house of Parliament from Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda Friday when he demanded that Japan follow France's example and recognize Red China. Ikeda replied that his government has no intention of abrogating its treaty with Nationalist China.

As for Red China itself, it has reacted to the French move in a typical way by not reacting at all publicly. Not a word on the subject has appeared in the official news and propaganda services.

Elsewhere in Asia, the new state of Malaysia is expected to deplore the French approach on the ground it will strengthen Red Chinese influence in Southeast Asia.

Only Cambodia of the non-aligned nations has expressed open support for the French.

ENJOYS TREATMENT

NEW YORK (UPI)—Actor Van Johnson said Friday he is being "nursed to death" and Memorial Hospital is the "swingingest joint" he has ever been in.

step. Indonesia, Burma and Ceylon all have ties with Peking and are unlikely to object.

India, despite its hostility to the Red Chinese over the disputed Himalayan border, supports Peking's admission to the United Nations. French recognition of Peking could advance this objective.

Both Communist North Viet Nam and North Korea will approve since they are Peking's allies in the Chinese-Soviet quarrel.

Law Speaker Hits Voting For Judges

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The executive director of the American Judicature Society called Friday for the selection of judges by a nonpartisan nominating committee instead of by general election.

Glenn R. Winters of Chicago said the voters should get their chance to rule on the judges in a special election on the sole question of whether the judge should return to office.

There would be no competing candidates in the election, he said.

Winters outlined the plan, being sponsored by the society, at a meeting of the Louisiana Conference on Judicial Selection and Tenure.

Some states already have instituted the plan, he said. All trial and appellate judges in Alaska, Iowa and Nebraska, and in some instances in Missouri, are selected by a nonpartisan nominating committee, he said.

Winters said there are "misconceptions concerning the selection of judges" by election. One he said, is the idea that elected judges are named by the people.

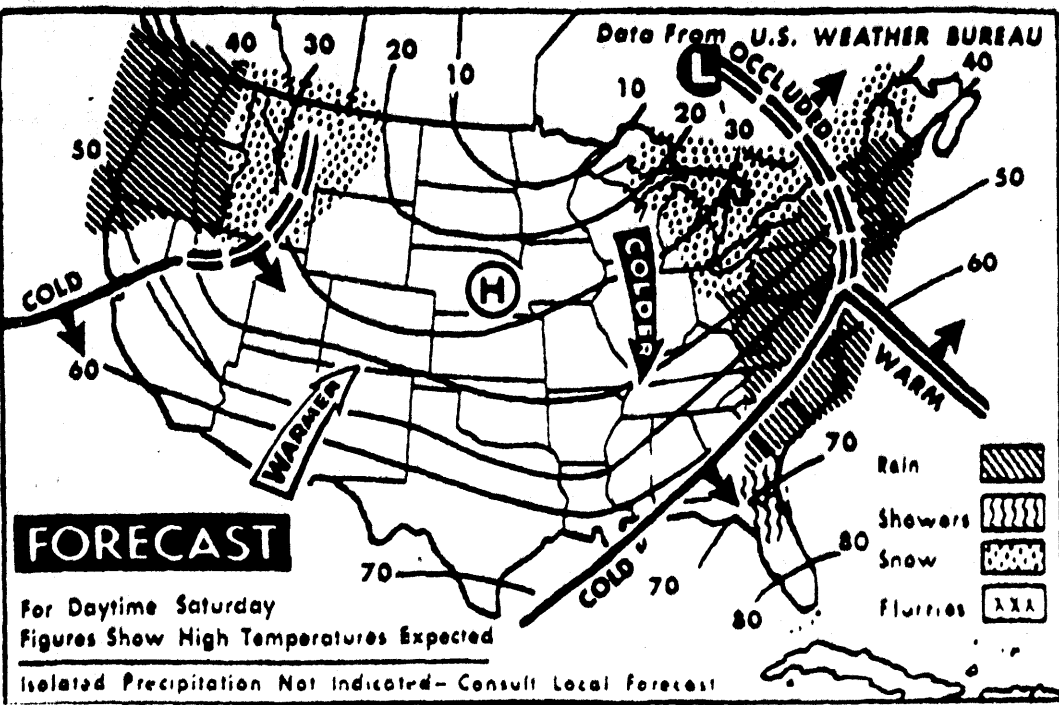

"In small rural communities the people may actually have some voice in it, but in most judicial elections the voter knows nothing about the candidates at all," Winters said. "He votes for a familiar name if he finds one, or he just ignores the judicial ballot entirely."

Another misconception, he said, is the idea that there is no harm in the political selection of judges.

Election puts into office "those who have what it takes to win elections," he said. "They may or may not have what it takes to do a good job of administering justice."

Other speakers at the session were Thomas W. Leigh of Monroe, a past president of the Louisiana State Bar Association; Judge Elmo B. Hunter of the Kansas City Court of Appeals; Judge Louis H. Burke of Los Angeles, a member of the California District Court of Appeals, and Judge W. St. John Garwood of Austin, Tex., retired justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

Rockefeller Derides U.N. Withdrawal

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, pushing his presidential hopes in New Hampshire on Friday derided as "half-baked" the suggestion that the United States withdraw from the United Nations if Red China is admitted.

In a speech prepared for a Concord dinner, Rockefeller said: "I can see no sense in the half-baked notion that we should take our dolls and go home, abandoning the United Nations to the Russian and Chinese Communists."

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who has been campaigning in New Hampshire for the past three days, told audiences here. "The United Nations would not be a safe place for us with Red China and the Soviets supported by the Afro-Asian votes."

Rockefeller also attacked Goldwater's position on Social Security and the graduated income tax.

The governor, accompanied by his wife, came to New Hampshire to file papers formally entering his name in the state's presidential preference primary March 10.

It is the first of the nation's primary elections. This year, with the race for the GOP presidential nomination wide open, the New Hampshire primary could have an unusual psychological impact.

Rockefeller flew to Laconia where he found several hundred persons waiting at the airport. Walking through the streets, he shook hands with several hundreds more and introduced his wife.

Mrs. Rockefeller wore a brownish-green maternity dress. They stopped in an arts and crafts store in Laconia, Ye Olde Shoppe, which sells articles made by handicapped and elderly citizens.

Two baby jackets were presented to Mrs. Rockefeller by two women sponsors of the project.

Rockefeller purchased a crocheted table cover and some table linen for $30.

His speech at a luncheon given by the Laconia Chamber of Commerce was largely devoted to a program to assist small business in the United States.

He outlined an 11-point program which included "re-examination" and "simplification" of the tax laws "from the viewpoint of incentive for small business."

More than 200 persons attended the luncheon, overflowing the dining room.

Answering questions after his talk, Rockefeller was asked about the idea—which Goldwater has been advocating in New Hampshire — of revising the Charter of the United Nations.

"Sen. Goldwater seems to have forgotten, or perhaps didn't know, that the Charter can be amended only with the approval of the Security Council and the Soviets have a veto there," he replied.

Another question directed his attention to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the outlook for drafting Nixon.

Rockefeller said, "Nixon has served his country well as a congressman, senator and vice president, and I respect his desire to get back in the race."

Republican, and only conservative candidate for Governor in the General Election on March 3!

Law Speaker Hits Voting For Judges

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The executive director of the American Judicature Society called Friday for the selection of judges by a nonpartisan nominating committee instead of by general election.

Glenn R. Winters of Chicago said the voters should get their chance to rule on the judges in a special election on the sole question of whether the judge should return to office.

There would be no competing candidates in the election, he said.

Winters outlined the plan, being sponsored by the society, at a meeting of the Louisiana Conference on Judicial Selection and Tenure.

Some states already have instituted the plan, he said. All trial and appellate judges in Alaska, Iowa and Nebraska, and in some instances in Missouri, are selected by a nonpartisan nominating committee, he said.

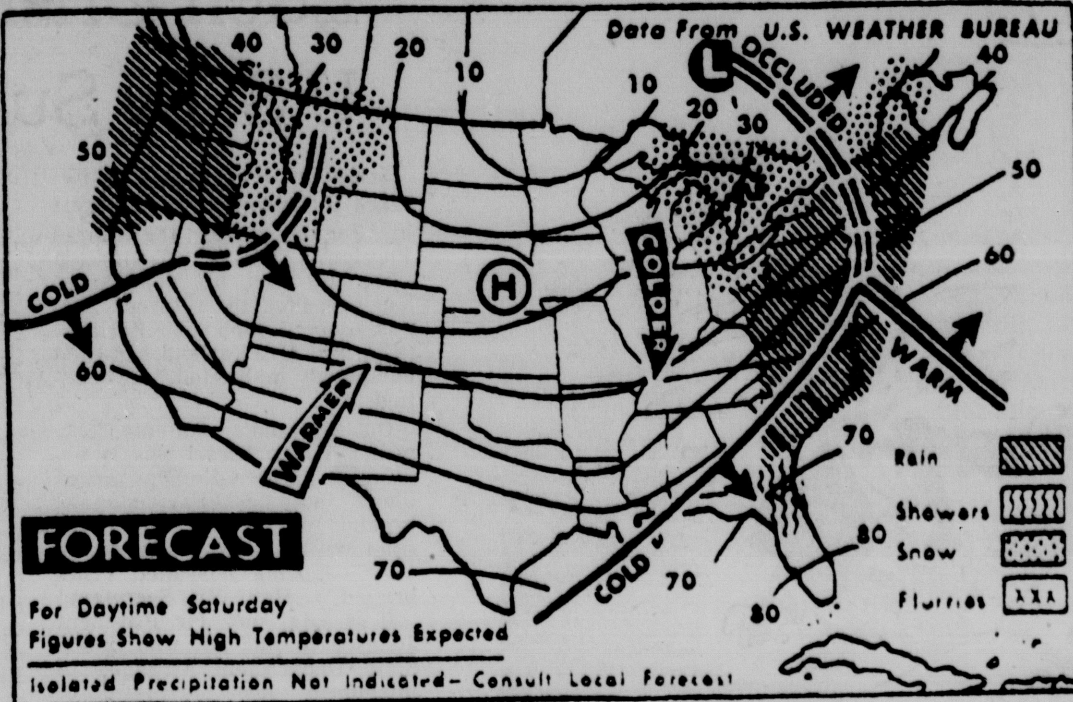

Winters said there are "misconceptions concerning the selection of judges" by election. One he said, is the idea that elected judges are named by the people.

"In small rural communities the people may actually have some voice in it, but in most judicial elections the voter knows nothing about the candidates at all," Winters said. "He votes for a familiar name if he finds one, or he just ignores the judicial ballot entirely."

Another misconception, he said, is the idea that there is no harm in the political selection of judges.

Election puts into office "those who have what it takes to win elections," he said. "They may or may not have what it takes to do a good job of administering justice."

Other speakers at the session were Thomas W. Leigh of Monroe, a past president of the Louisiana State Bar Association; Judge Elmo B. Hunter of the Kansas City Court of Appeals; Judge Louis H. Burke of Los Angeles, a member of the California District Court of Appeals, and Judge W. St. John Garwood of Austin, Tex., retired justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

Rockefeller Derides U.N. Withdrawal

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, pushing his presidential hopes in New Hampshire on Friday, derided as "half-baked" the suggestion that the United States withdraw from the United Nations if Red China is admitted.

In a speech prepared for a Concord dinner, Rockefeller said: "I can see no sense in the half-baked notion that we should take our dolls and go home, abandoning the United Nations to the Russian and Chinese Communists."

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who has been campaigning in New Hampshire for the past three days, told audiences here, "The United Nations would not be a safe place for us with Red China and the Soviets supported by the Afro-Asian votes."

Rockefeller also attacked Goldwater's position on Social Security and the graduated income tax.

The governor, accompanied by his wife, came to New Hampshire to file papers formally entering his name in the state's presidential preference primary March 10.

It is the first of the nation's primary elections. This year, with the race for the GOP presidential nomination wide open, the New Hampshire primary could have an unusual psychological impact.

Rockefeller flew to Laconia where he found several hundred persons waiting at the airport. Walking through the streets, he shook hands with several hundreds more and introduced his wife.

Mrs. Rockefeller wore a brownish-green maternity dress. They stopped in an arts and crafts store in Laconia, Ye Olde Shoppe, which sells articles made by handicapped and elderly citizens.

Two baby jackets were presented to Mrs. Rockefeller by two women sponsors of the project.

Rockefeller purchased a crocheted table cover and some table linen for $30.

His speech at a luncheon given by the Laconia Chamber of Commerce was largely devoted to a program to assist small business in the United States.

He outlined an 11-point program which included "re-examination" and "simplification" of the tax laws "from the viewpoint of incentive for small business."

More than 200 persons attended the luncheon, overflowing the dining room.

Answering questions after his talk, Rockefeller was asked about the idea—which Goldwater has been advocating in New Hampshire — of revising the Charter of the United Nations. "Sen. Goldwater seems to have forgotten, or perhaps didn't know, that the Charter can be amended only with the approval of the Security Council and the Soviets have a veto there," he replied.

Another question directed his attention to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the outlook for drafting Nixon.

Rockefeller said, "Nixon has served his country well as a congressman, senator and vice president, and I respect his desire to get back in the race again. But waiting for the draft might be a long wait."

From Laconia, Rockefeller went by motor through a number of small communities on the way to Concord.

He scheduled a meeting with Democratic Gov. John W. King after filing his formal entry in the primary with Secretary of State Robert Stark.

In his speech for the Republican dinner meeting in Concord,

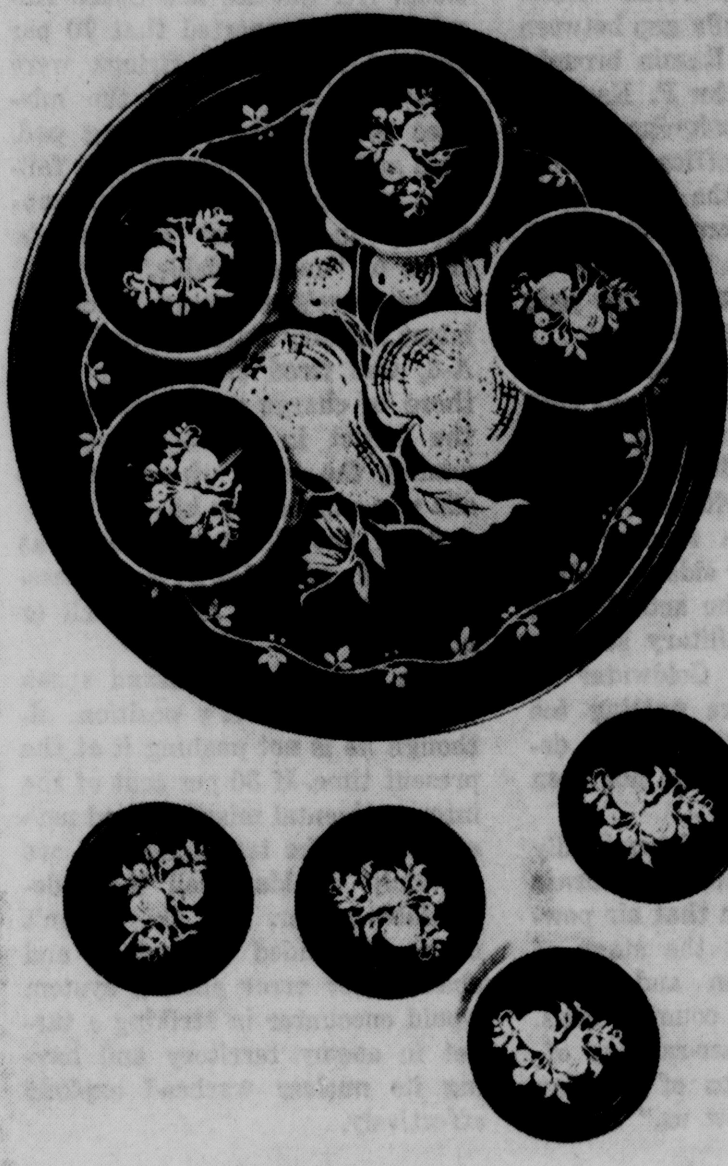

Rockefeller said that suggestions for a voluntary system of Social Security indicates ignorance.

"Anyone who advocates a so-called voluntary system so that some have it and some don't—that person just doesn't understand the Social Security system. And that's the truth."

Goldwater has made proposals for voluntary participation in Social Security.

Each Crisis Takes U.S. By Surprise

Missile 'Dependability'

When Senator Barry Goldwater offered the opinion that our intercontinental ballistic missiles are "undependable," he drew fire from administration leaders and some officials in the Defense Department.

Even conservative writer Holmes Alexander described Goldwater's statement a reckless one. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara took his place on the air and in formal denials released to the press. He denounced the statement of the front runner for the GOP presidential nomination as "completely misleading, politically irresponsible and damaging to the national security."

On the matter of political "irresponsibility," we recall something about a missile gap between this country and Russia brought up by the late John F. Kennedy when he was campaigning for the nation's highest office in 1960. He had accused the Eisenhower administration of creating such a gap, or allowing it to develop, by permitting the Russians to gain superiority in these weapons.

The very commentators who applauded Mr. Kennedy at that time are now expressing horror over Senator Goldwater's much more restrained criticism at this time. The Arizona senator does not say that either side is leading in a race where the actual facts are obscured by military secrecy.

Rather Senator Goldwater is saying that we are putting too much faith and money into a defense system which has not been properly tested.

Back in the 1920's, General Billy Mitchell needed the top brass with the proposition that air power had grown past the stage of military observation and public relations flights at country fairs. But when the higher-ranking officers and politicians of the day said in effect, "show us," Gen-

al Mitchell gave them a bombing demonstration. Apparently those were days when open questions and answers were dealt with more directly.

Even though Billy Mitchell was court martialed, he brought an effective case before the American people and his fellow officers so that the use of air power in World War II would come as no surprise.

Billy Mitchell had to test his bombers. Goldwater is asking no more from those who suggest that future defense policies be built around proven weapons.

At the same time the Defense Department was hitting back at the Goldwater statement, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that 70 per cent of its missile firings were successful. This meant the missiles got off the launching pad. This admission of 30 per cent failures is already enough to put substance in Senator Goldwater's claim of "undependable."

But there's still more. When the latest military missile, the Polaris A-3, was fired two months ago, those in charge would not reveal the target in advance, even to naming the ocean where the missile was supposed to hit.

After the firing, the test was described as simply successful, which could mean much or nothing.

The facts as they stand speak well for Goldwater's position, although he is not pushing it at the present time. If 30 per cent of the intercontinental missiles fired never get off the launching pad, we certainly wouldn't call them dependable either. And this doesn't count the added difficulties and chances for error such a system would encounter in striking a target in enemy territory and having its nuclear warhead explode effectively.

Cotton For Gold

The American balance of payments problem, which includes the matter of our gold reserves dwindling away, may find a partial solution in that Deep South product, cotton.

Rather than stuffing it in the ears of the economists, we believe they should take every advantage of cotton and other U. S. crops on the world market. To use these to turn the tide of the gold outflow, the products must be made competitive on the international bargaining table.

For this reason, there are those who support the Cooley Bill, which would maintain a competitive export price for cotton in particular and at the same time make domestic millings of cotton competitive with foreign producers who load up the American market with cheap cloth and yarns.

This is not to say that all provisions of the Cooley bill are good. But the matter of making cotton competitive on the world market would fit into the overall scheme of turning some gold toward an inflow rather than the present outflow.

It is difficult for the more conscientious political leaders to arouse much interest or concern in the matter of our disappearing gold reserves and the balance-of-payments deficit.

Fifth District Congressman Otto Passman has tried hard enough. So did President Eisenhower and the late President Kennedy. But thus far, the matter of the gold outflow hasn't become a household word in the United States.

Perhaps it would if the people became aware that our lack of gold to pay our debts owed to other countries could result in every dollar in every wallet and bank account in the nation losing buying power. And ignorance of the problem won't make it go away.

At the bottom of the dilemma is the development since World War II whereby the United States spends more abroad than the rest of the world spends here.

Since 1958, the United States gold reserves have been depleted by more than $7 billion. If the foreign holders of U. S. dollars would all at once demand payment in gold — their privilege under our agreements — then our whole trade structure would collapse. We simply don't have the gold on hand to pay out the paper foreign countries are holding against it.

U. S. private capital has been investing around $2 billion annually more in foreign securities than foreign investors are placing in American businesses. We spend some $3 billion annually to maintain military installations abroad. About $1.5 billion of our annual foreign aid grants goes for low-cost, long-term loans to pay for goods manufactured outside the United States. American tourists spend some $1.4 billion more abroad than foreign visitors spend in the United States. Relatives of foreign residents pass on almost a billion dollars a year to family members overseas.

We could simply say that we'll pay fewer bars of gold to make up for the dollars the foreign nations are holding. After all, gold is a precious metal and those are only paper notes. But that's hardly the way to hold customers and strengthen alliances.

The cutting down on the number of military bases overseas would help. So would limiting the amounts of money U. S. tourists spend abroad. Purchases of foreign securities as well as the sending of money to distant relatives overseas could be curtailed.

But the main course of action rests in the field of exports, and we certainly should not have to resort to exports to Cuba and other Soviet bloc countries to pay this pay.

In the cotton export market, the United States shipped out approximately 3.3 million bales in the 1962-63 harvest and shipping season. This has been estimated at around 3.8 million bales for 1963-64. President Johnson is aiming at an export total of up to 6 million bales for the 1964-65 season. This is an encouraging sign.

ROBERT ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

Castro Believed Preparing To Invade Guantanamo Base

WASHINGTON — There are increasing disquieting indications that dictator Fidel Castro, aided and abetted by Premier Khrushchev, is readying a Panama fuero-type drive to oust the U. S. from the big Guantanamo naval base it has occupied under lease in Cuba since 1903.

From the mounting evidence, the Communists' apparent strategy is to deliberately provoke violence and incidents at Guantanamo as a prelude to bringing the base issue before the United Nations.

IT IS DEEMED highly significant that these disturbing portents have markedly intensified since the Panama crisis and Castro's mystery — shrouded trip to Moscow.

The threatening developments include: Soviet bloc representatives at the UN are urging Latin American diplomats to take the lead in moves to compel the U. S. to give up control of the Panama Canal and to relinquish Guantanamo — with emphatic assurances of vigorous Red support.

Castro's UN representatives have become very active in seeking backing for a plan to denounce the U. S. for "aggression," etc., for holding on to Guantanamo.

The Castro government has again rejected the annual $2,000 gold rental payment for the naval base. However, it collects regularly the monthly $14,000 bill for water for the base — supplied by a Castro-nationalized concern. The water payment is in dollars.

A machinegun disappeared from a locker; later was found hidden on the base near a heavy fence in an area constantly patrolled by Cuban troops.

Rear Admiral John Bulkeley, base commander, now gets a daily report on what he describes as "rock throwing incidents." Later, these have noticeably increased, with Cubans throwing rocks at Marines on guard at the base for the obvious purpose of provoking incidents. The Marines are under orders not to retaliate but on occasion they do.

ALL U. S. guards are armed with ball ammunition as well as hand grenades. The Marines have four tanks on Guantanamo ready for instant action. The largest field gun is 155-mm caliber. No plans are stationed there. There are two airfields, but they are very vulnerable.

ONE-MAN INVASION — Investigation disclosed that the machinegun was taken by Cubans working on the base. They claimed to be anti-Castro, and their alleged intent was to use the gun against his troops.

Had they done so from the U. S. base, that could have precipitated a potentially serious incident.

Some Guantanamo officials doubt the Cubans' story, but were unable to uncover evidence that they were Castro agents. The workers have been shipped to Puerto Rico, where they are living with other Cuban refugees.

Approximately 1,000 Cubans work on the base, daily traveling to and from their nearby homes. Castro can block this any time he wants to, but is finding it profitable to allow it to continue. He takes more than half of the Cubans' pay, netting him several million dollars a year.

ALTHOUGH THE Cuban workers are closely checked, U. S. authorities take it for granted that there are Castro agents among them.

Recently, one Marine staged a spectacular demonstration of bravado.

Unarmed, he left the base and sauntered for a mile across the Cuban countryside singing the Star-Spangled Banner and Marine Corps Hymn, then nonchalantly returned unchallenged and untouched.

Astonished witnesses relate several Cuban patrols were so astounded they watched the Marine without doing anything. Only after he was back on the base, did hastily summoned Cuban reinforcements arrive. They were obviously baffled by the unusual episode, and manifestly didn't know what to make of it.

The ebullient Marine was shipped back to the States.

AN AVERAGE of two Soviet bloc freighters a week go through Guantanamo Bay en route to Guantanamo city, a supply base for the large forces maintained by Castro around the base. These troops include Russians, whom the Marines call "white Cubans."

Around 300 refugees are living on the U. S. base. Under the treaty, they cannot be shipped elsewhere. Most of them are employed on the base. Also under the treaty, marriages are prohibited, so they are usually performed in nearby Puerto Rico.

Bible Digest

H. B. DEAN

"But God said unto him, thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee; then whose shall those things be, which thou hast gathered? Luke 12:20

Eternity is a long time to think on the poor investments you made on earth. "Lay up for yourselves treasures in Heaven where moth and rust doth not corrupt nor thieves break through and steal."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, taken by surprise about events in Panama, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee (Jan. 15) that his department had consulted the returned Ambassador Joseph S. Farland. "Oh, yes, Mr. Farland has been completely de-briefed," he testified.

On Farland's statement to writer Victor Riesel this is absolutely untrue. He was asked about nothing. Farland sat around Washington for three solid weeks without even — or ever — being consulted ("de-briefed"). Hey, Mr. Secretary! It is vital now for President Johnson to find out who in the State Department arranged to misinform his Secretary of State.

Repeated failures to be informed, failures of subordinates to level with their boss, calculated sabotage of information such as the Farland saboteur, and repeated denials of the undeniable mistakes confront us again with the same mysteries we faced in the days of Yalta and of Alger Hiss.

EACH CRISIS is a surprise — Soviet missiles in Cuba, Laos, the Berlin Wall, Nehru's invasion of Goa, the Dominican revolution, the Cambodian blacklash, Zanzibar, Panama. Surprise, surprise, surprise. In the sacred name of the security of the United States what's going on here?

Like Secretary Rusk, CIA Director John A. McCone also failed inexplicably to consult Farland when the Ambassador returned from Panama, although Farland's dispatches bristled with information about the Castro buildup and mounting crisis. An ex-FBI star, counter-espionage expert, the chief of mission and admittedly the most successful Ambassador we've had in Latin America for many years, Farland was utterly ignored. Who in the CIA and State Department kept Farland away from the top? And why was no new Ambassador to Panama appointed for five critical months after Farland's return home last August?

NOW, ONE of the things Farland knew, and that I knew, too, was that the CIA in both Cuba and Panama had been infiltrated wholesale by Soviet-trained Castro agents. This disclosure was proven by the systematic murders and tortures that greeted Cuban and Panamanian anti-Communists promptly after being recruited by the CIA. Details? I repeat here the text of my article of February 27, 1963 — 11 long and decisive months ago — including the name of Castro's main agent in Panama, only to prove beyond any possible doubt that no surprise at the top of our government is permissible. "Castro's guerrilla fleet is moving fighters and their arms into Panama. Costa Rican Communist Julio Sunol is in Havana directing this with support in Costa Rica — on Panama's border. The chief debarcation point is La Colma (Cuba), now a Soviet-occupied port. Castro's receiving agent, protector and cover in Panama is famous Panamanian Communist Thelma King — vicious, relentless, competent."

"BY AIR these groups operate from the Soviet air base at San Julian, 90 miles southwest of Havana, and from San Antonio de Los Baños. They are headquartered in downtown Cienfuegos and the central radio tool is a very modern Russian-built station on Key Breton." February 27, 1963!

Starting with the Bay of Pigs, after new teams entered the innards of the State Department and CIA, the endless pattern of surprises and failures we have would be utterly impossible unless our government has been infiltrated at the policy level.

The British, French, West German, Italian, Dutch and Swedish governments have experienced such Soviet infiltration. As our American Ambassador to Switzerland, I saw this happen even there. And we are seeing the success of deep-cover Sino-Soviet agents and fellow travelers planted here.

As it did to Chancellor Adenauer and Prime Minister Macmillan, it must come as a tragic, horrible shock to President Johnson. But all legislation and other important duties fall to nothing compared with the heartbreaking, shifty, diabolic problem he confronts: the restoration of internal top-level security. Moreover, he knows the enemy's self-serving alibi of "witch hunt" will automatically "blame" as always and everywhere, the moment he moves.

MAY ALL intelligent citizens thoughtful newspapermen across our country help give him the strength to reach each discoverable truth, place security above every other consideration and let the chips fall where they may. This nation is in absolute peril — within Washington.

Panama Envoy's Warnings Ignored

PRESIDENT Johnson can extricate the United States from the mess in Panama by learning the facts and listening to those who seek a solution with honor, not appeasement. His first step, however, promises little. For in sending Edwin M. Martin as a member of the "truce team," Mr. Johnson has simply placed in a key position the man most responsible for the ouster of Ambassador to Panama, Joseph S. Farland.

Ambassador Farland was tremendously popular among Panamanians. He knew the country and its people, he was sympathetic to their problems, but he was also aware that Panama is but part of a larger Latin America picture. Mr. Farland was aware that trouble was a-making over the Canal, but his warnings and his advice were ignored, specifically by Mr. Martin, who made life so miserable for the Ambassador that he resigned.

The President would be well advised to take Mr. Martin's views with more than a grain of salt. He might also ask the State Department why the Central Intelligence Agency information was ignored. CIA knew that Castro agents were at work, that arms were being smuggled into Panama, and that plans were being made for a monster riot. Yet the onslaught, when it came was a small Pearl Harbor — with U.S. troops unarmed and unprepared.

SOME INQUIRY might be made as to the administration of the Zone and as to other matters which contributed to the critical relations between the United States and Panama. My knowledge of that area is a little dated. But I have received a letter from a young Army wife with a journalistic background and a sound understanding of America's interests. What she reports is some of the detail that makes up the big picture, and it is appalling.

Without organizing this material, let me offer her story "as is":

The English-language press in Panama is violently anti-American. Newspapermen who show a pro-American viewpoint are frowned upon, and one such paper for making a broadcast that was favorable to the United States.

The job of winning over Panamanians to our side ("Operation Friendship") was assigned primarily to the United States Information Agency which, as usual, did its dismal worst.

Films and books were carried to most towns in the interior of Panama at great expense. But little of it was in Spanish. When their were complaints, USIA answered that it could not get any translators. Since English-Spanish translators are the most easily available, the question arises as to what is being done in other countries.

The Canal Zone police allowed denationalizing Panamanian students to enter the Zone, thereby setting the stage for trouble.

The flag trouble began when Governor Fleming decided that if he had to fly two flags — U.S. and Panamanian — side by side, he would fly neither. This is what set off the Balboa students, not a desire to taunt Panama.

THE MOB'S anger was directed more at American civilians than at troops. Many of the Americans in the Zone were born there and have never been to the States. They look down with equal contempt on Panamanians and on the military. Having contributed to the causes of trouble, they cried out in righteous fear when the attack came. Yet it was the military that took the first blows. Soldiers armed with fortitude and guts, and often little else, remained at their posts, and some died there.

Whatever the sins of omission or commission of those on the scene, a major causative factor of the rioting was the belief among Panamanians and their Castroite leaders that the United States government was not prepared to take a firm stand and did not have the stomach for strong action.

Missile 'Dependability'

When Senator Barry Goldwater offered the opinion that our intercontinental ballistic missiles are "undependable," he drew fire from administration leaders and some officials in the Defense Department.

Even conservative writer Holmes Alexander described Goldwater's statement a reckless one. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara took his place on the air and in formal denials released to the press. He denounced the statement of the front runner for the GOP presidential nomination as "completely misleading, politically irresponsible and damaging to the national security."

On the matter of political "irresponsibility," we recall something about a missile gap between this country and Russia brought up by the late John F. Kennedy when he was campaigning for the nation's highest office in 1960. He had accused the Eisenhower administration of creating such a gap, or allowing it to develop, by permitting the Russians to gain superiority in these weapons.

The very commentators who applauded Mr. Kennedy at that time are now expressing horror over Senator Goldwater's much more restrained criticism at this time. The Arizona senator does not say that either side is leading in a race where the actual facts are obscured by military secrecy.

Rather Senator Goldwater is saying that we are putting too much faith and money into a defense system which has not been properly tested.

Back in the 1920's, General Billy Mitchell needed the top brass with the proposition that air power had grown past the stage of military observation and public relations flights at country fairs. But when the higher-ranking officers and politicians of the day said in effect, "show us," Gen-

al Mitchell gave them a bombing demonstration. Apparently those were days when open questions and answers were dealt with more directly.

Even though Billy Mitchell was court martialed, he brought an effective case before the American people and his fellow officers so that the use of air power in World War II would come as no surprise.

Billy Mitchell had to test his bombers. Goldwater is asking no more from those who suggest that future defense policies be built around proven weapons.

At the same time the Defense Department was hitting back at the Goldwater statement, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that 70 per cent of its missile firings were successful. This meant the missiles got off the launching pad. This admission of 30 per cent failures is already enough to put substance in Senator Goldwater's claim of "undependable."

But there's still more. When the latest military missile, the Polaris A-3, was fired two months ago, those in charge would not reveal the target in advance, even to naming the ocean where the missile was supposed to hit.

After the firing, the test was described as simply successful, which could mean much or nothing.

The facts as they stand speak well for Goldwater's position, although he is not pushing it at the present time. If 30 per cent of the intercontinental missiles fired never get off the launching pad, we certainly wouldn't call them dependable either. And this doesn't count the added difficulties and chances for error such a system would encounter in striking a target in enemy territory and having its nuclear warhead explode effectively.

Cotton For Gold

The American balance of payments problem, which includes the matter of our gold reserves dwindling away, may find a partial solution in that Deep South product, cotton.

Rather than stuffing it in the ears of the economists, we believe they should take every advantage of cotton and other U. S. crops on the world market. To use these to turn the tide of the gold outflow, the products must be made competitive on the international bargaining table.

For this reason, there are those who support the Cooley Bill, which would maintain a competitive export price for cotton in particular and at the same time make domestic millings of cotton competitive with foreign producers who load up the American market with cheap cloth and yarns.

This is not to say that all provisions of the Cooley bill are good. But the matter of making cotton competitive on the world market would fit into the overall scheme of turning some gold toward an inflow rather than the present outflow.

It is difficult for the more conscientious political leaders to arouse much interest or concern in the matter of our disappearing gold reserves and the balance-of-payments deficit.

Fifth District Congressman Otto Passman has tried hard enough. So did President Eisenhower and the late President Kennedy. But thus far, the matter of the gold outflow hasn't become a household word in the United States.

Perhaps it would if the people became aware that our lack of gold to pay our debts owed to other countries could result in every dollar in every wallet and bank account in the nation losing buying power. And ignorance of the problem won't make it go away.

At the bottom of the dilemma is the development since World War II whereby the United States spends more abroad than the rest of the world spends here.

Since 1958, the United States gold reserves have been depleted by more than $7 billion. If the foreign holders of U. S. dollars would all at once demand payment in gold — their privilege under our agreements — then our whole trade structure would collapse. We simply don't have the gold on hand to pay out the paper foreign countries are holding against it.

U. S. private capital has been investing around $2 billion annually more in foreign securities than foreign investors are placing in American businesses. We spend some $3 billion annually to maintain military installations abroad. About $1.5 billion of our annual foreign aid grants goes for low-cost, long-term loans to pay for goods manufactured outside the United States. American tourists spend some $1.4 billion more abroad than foreign visitors spend in the United States. Relations of foreign residents pass on almost a billion dollars a year to family members overseas.

We could simply say that we'll pay fewer bars of gold to make up for the dollars the foreign nations are holding. After all, gold is a precious metal and those are only paper notes. But that's hardly the way to hold customers and strengthen alliances.

The cutting down on the number of military bases overseas would help. So would limiting the amounts of money U. S. tourists spend abroad. Purchases of foreign securities as well as the sending of money to distant relatives overseas could be curtailed.

But the main course of action rests in the field of exports, and we certainly should not have to resort to exports to Cuba and other Soviet bloc countries to pay this pay.

In the cotton export market, the United States shipped out approximately 3.3 million bales in the 1962-63 harvest and shipping season. This has been estimated at around 3.8 million bales for 1963-64. President Johnson is aiming at an export total of up to 6 million bales for the 1964-65 season. This is an encouraging sign.

Castro Believed Preparing To Invade Guantanamo Base

WASHINGTON — There are increasing disquieting indications that dictator Fidel Castro, aided and abetted by Premier Khrushchev, is readying a Panama force-type drive to oust the U. S. from the big Guantanamo naval base it has occupied under lease in Cuba since 1903.

From the mounting evidence, the Communists' apparent strategy is to deliberately provoke violence and incidents at Guantanamo as a prelude to bringing the base issue before the United Nations.

IT IS DEEMED highly significant that these disturbing portents have markedly intensified since the Panama crisis and Castro's mystery - shrouded trip to Moscow.

The threatening developments include: Soviet bloc representatives at the UN are urging Latin American diplomats to take the lead in moves to compel the U. S. to give up control of the Panama Canal and to relinquish Guantanamo — with emphatic assurances of vigorous Red support. Castro's UN representatives have become very active in seeking backing for a plan to denounce the U. S. for "aggression," etc., for holding on to Guantanamo.

The Castro government has again rejected the annual $2,000 gold rental payment for the naval base. However, it collects regularly the monthly $14,000 bill for water for the base — supplied by a Castro-nationalized concern. The water payment is in dollars.

A machinegun disappeared from a locker; later was found hidden on the base near a heavy wire fence by Cuban troops.

Rear Admiral John Bulkeley, base commander, now gets a daily report on what he describes as "rock throwing incidents." Lately, these have noticeably increased, with Cubans throwing rocks at Marines on guard at the base for the obvious purpose of provoking incidents. The Marines are under orders not to retaliate but on occasion they do.

ALL U. S. guards are armed with ball ammunition as well as hand grenades. The Marines have four tanks on Guantanamo ready for instant action. The largest field gun is 155-mm caliber. No plans are stationed there. There are two airfields, but they are very vulnerable.

ONE-MAN INVASION — Investigation disclosed that the machinegun was taken by Cubans working on the base. They claimed to be anti-Castro, and their alleged intent was to use the gun against his troops.

Had they done so from the U. S. base, that could have precipitated a potentially serious incident.

Some Guantanamo officials doubt the Cubans' story, but were unable to uncover evidence that they were Castro agents. The workers have been shipped to Puerto Rico, where they are living with other Cuban refugees.

Approximately 1,000 Cubans work on the base, daily traveling to and from their nearby homes. Castro can block this any time he wants to, but is finding it profitable to allow it to continue. He takes more than half of the Cubans' pay, netting him several million dollars a year.

ALTHOUGH THE Cuban workers are closely checked, U. S. authorities take it for granted that there are Castro agents among them.

Recently, one Marine staged a spectacular demonstration of bravado.

Unarmed, he left the base and sauntered for a mile across the Cuban countryside singing the Star-Spangled Banner and Marine Corps Hymn, then nonchalantly returned unchallenged and untouched.

Astonished witnesses relate several Cuban patrols were so astounded they watched the Marine without doing anything. Only after he was back on the base, did hastily summoned Cuban reinforcements arrive. They were obviously baffled by the unusual episode, and manifestly didn't know what to make of it.

The ebullient Marine was shipped back to the States.

AN AVERAGE of two Soviet bloc freighters a week go through Guantanamo Bay en route to Guantanamo. A supply base for the large forces maintained by Castro around the base. These troops include Russians, whom the Marines call "white Cubans."

Around 300 refugees are living on the U. S. base. Under the treaty, they cannot be shipped elsewhere. Most of them are employed on the base. Also under the treaty, marriages are prohibited, so they are usually performed in nearby Puerto Rico.

Each Crisis Takes U.S. By Surprise

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, taken by surprise about events in Panama, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee (Jan. 15) that his department had consulted the returned Ambassador Joseph S. Farland. "Oh, yes, Mr. Farland has been completely de-briefed," he testified.

On Farland's statement to writer Victor Riesel this is absolutely untrue. He was asked about nothing. Farland sat around Washington for three solid weeks without even — or ever — being consulted ("de-briefed"). Hey, Mr. Secretary! It is vital now for President Johnson to find out who in the State Department arranged to misinform his Secretary of State.

Repeated failures to be informed, failures of subordinates to level with their boss, calculated sabotage of information such as the Farland brush-off, and repeated denials of the undeniable mistakes confront us again with the same mysteries we faced in the days of Yalta and of Alger Hiss.

EACH CRISIS is a surprise—Soviet missiles in Cuba, Laos, the Berlin Wall, Nehru's invasion of Goa, the Dominican revolution, the Cambodian blacklash, Zanzibar, Panama. Surprise, surprise, surprise. In the sacred name of the security of the United States what's going on here?

Like Secretary Rusk, CIA Director John A. McCone also failed inexplicably to consult Farland when the Ambassador returned from Panama, although Farland's dispatches bristled with information about the Castro buildup and mounting crisis. An ex-FBI star, chief of espionage expert, the chief of mission and admittedly the most successful Ambassador we've had in Latin America for many years, Farland was utterly ignored. Who in the CIA and State Department kept Farland away from the top? And why was no new Ambassador to Panama appointed for five critical months after Farland's return home last August?

NOW, ONE of the things Farland knew, and that I knew, too, was that the CIA in both Cuba and Panama had been infiltrated wholesale by Soviet-trained Castro agents. This disclosure was proven by the systematic murders and tortures that greeted Cuban and Panamanian anti-Communists promptly after being recruited by the CIA. Details? I repeat here the text of my article of February 27, 1963 — 11 long and decisive months ago — including the name of Castro's main agent in Panama, only to prove beyond any possible doubt that no surprise at the top of our government is permissible.

"Castro's guerrilla fleet is moving fighters and their arms into Panama. Costa Rican Communist Julio Sunol is in Havana directing this with support in Costa Rica — on Panama's border. The chief debarkation point is La Colma (Cuba), now a Soviet-occupied port. Castro's receiving agent, protector and cover in Panama is famous Panamanian Communist Thelma King — vicious, relentless, competent."

"BY AIR these groups operate from the Soviet air base at San Julian, 90 miles southwest of Havana, and from San Antonio de Los Banos. They are headquartered in downtown Cienfuegos and the central radio tool is a very modern Russian-built station on Key Breton." February 27, 1963!

Starting with the Bay of Pigs, after new teams entered the in-lards of the State Department and CIA, the endless pattern of surprises and failures we have would be utterly impossible unless our government has been infiltrated at the policy level.

The British, French, West German, Italian, Dutch and Swedish governments have experienced such Soviet infiltration. As our American Ambassador to Switzerland, I saw this happen even there. And we are seeing the success of deep-cover Sino-Soviet agents and fellow travelers planted here.

As it did to Chancellor Adenauer and Prime Minister Macmillan, it must come as a tragic, horrible shock to President Johnson. But all legislation and other important duties fall to nothing compared with the heartbreaking, shifty, diabolic problem he confronts: the restoration of internal top-level security. Moreover, he knows the enemy's self-serving alibi of "witch hunt" will automatically blare, as always and everywhere, the moment he moves.

MAY ALL intelligent citizens thoughtful newspapers across our country help give him the strength to reach each discoverable truth, place security above every other consideration and let the chips fall where they may. This nation is in absolute peril — within Washington.

African Troops Mutiny In Kenya

90 British officers and 75 British noncommissioned officers. As East Africa became the new hot-spot straining Britain's strategic defense forces, the aircraft carrier Centaur with 500 commandos on board anchored Friday night off Mombasa, Kenya's big Indian Ocean port. More The mutiny in Tanganyika came after Tanganyikan police were sent to Zanzibar at the request of the new regime there to help restore order. The trouble in Kenya came on the heels of the dispatch of British troops to Uganda to bolster Premier Obote's government. Two companies of Uganda army companies mutinied against their British officers Thursday at Camp Jinja. The situation was reported all quiet there Friday. Commandos took off from Plymouth, England, at two-hour intervals and were flying through the night to Kenya. The British garrison is expected to be withdrawn in about a year with Africans taking over. In Nairobi, Kenya issued a statement expressing complete confidence in the Kenya army, including both its British and African officers. He also said he was speeding up Africanization of the army so that Africans would take over most top spots from the British this year.

men he intended to ask the United States for a more detailed explanation of Johnson's various proposals. But he made it clear that the Soviet Union will accept no agreement to stop the spread of nuclear weapons or halt the buildup of nuclear delivery systems unless the United States drops its plans for a multinational nuclear force. "Would agreement be possible if West Germany were kept out of the multilateral force?" one newsman asked Tsarapkin. "Without West Germany there would be no multilateral force," he replied. He also poured cold water on Western hopes that the Kremlin may be prepared to negotiate a system of observation posts to prevent surprise attack and accidental war.

France off this potential hook. Rusk, therefore, is reported to have advised the Chinese ambassador as emphatically as possible that Nationalist China should refrain from any hasty breaking of ties and recalling of its diplomats from Paris. Eeloy, U.S. officials feel, would make it possible to learn Red China's real attitude on the two-China question. If the Reds will not tolerate the kind of arrangement De Gaulle believes he has it will be up to France to make the break.

Annoyed as U.S. foreign policymakers are by De Gaulle's decision, they see no worthwhile retaliatory course open to the United States. They are fearful that the French move may further weaken the already battered line which the United States has been trying to hold against any increase in Western trade and diplomatic ties with Red China.

They recognize also that the line against increasing industrial trade with Cuba and the restraints which the United States has tried to maintain on long-term credits to Russia may be further weakened. De Gaulle's contention is that France cannot any longer ignore the biggest and most powerful nation in the Far East. The implication is that the U.S. policy of trying to isolate Chinese communism has proved bankrupt.

Judge Harper Presides Over Heavy Docket

Judge W. M. Harper presided over a heavy docket in Monroe City Court Friday, fining two persons $350 or seven months in jail for theft.

They were Fred Graves, 22, of Litroe; and Jimmy Jones, 40, Negro, of 203 1/2 14th St., Monroe. Jones was also fined $30 or 30 days for public drunkenness.

Several other theft cases were also processed. Linda Dartline, 18, 605 Natchitoches St., West Monroe, forfeited a $100 bond for this offense. Herman Guy, 56, Negro, Rt. 2, Box 3, Fordyce, Ark., was fined $100 or 60 days for theft, and a similar count against L. J. Quinn Jr., 19, Negro, 300 1/2 Renwick St., Monroe, was nolle prossed.

Judge Harper sentenced James Balsamo, 22, 1214 N. 7th St., to two compulsory jail sentences of one year each for theft and crime against nature, with the terms not to run concurrently.

Discharged were counts of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving against C. L. George, 35, Negro, 1615 rear Washington St., Monroe. A charge of simple battery against Norman L. Moncrief Jr., 1004 N. 4th St., Monroe, was also discharged.

In other court action, a large number of traffic violations were handled by Judge Harper.

African Troops Mutiny In Kenya

90 British officers and 75 British noncommissioned officers. As East Africa became the new hot-spot straining Britain's strategic defense forces, the aircraft carrier Centaur with 500 commandos on board anchored Friday night off Mombasa, Kenya's big Indian Ocean port.

More

The mutiny in Tanganyika came after Tanganyikan police were sent to Zanzibar at the request of the new regime there to help restore order.

The trouble in Kenya came on the heels of the dispatch of British troops to Uganda to bolster Premier Obote's government. Two companies of Uganda army companies mutinied against their British officers Thursday at Camp Jinja. The situation was reported all quiet there Friday.

Commandos took off from Plymouth, England, at two-hour intervals and were flying through the night to Kenya.

The British garrison is expected to be withdrawn in about a year with Africans taking over.

In Nairobi, Kenyatta issued a statement expressing complete confidence in the Kenya army, including both its British and African officers.

He also said he was speeding up Africanization of the army so that Africans would take over most top spots from the British this year.

Geneva Talks Consider Halt On Plutonium

men he intended to seek the United States for a more detailed explanation of Johnson's various proposals.

But he made it clear that the Soviet Union will accept no agreement to stop the spread of nuclear weapons or halt the buildup of nuclear delivery systems unless the United States drops its plans for a multilateral nuclear force.

"Would agreement be possible if West Germany were kept out of the multilateral force?" one newsman asked Tsarapkin.

"Without West Germany there would be no multilateral force," he replied.

He also poured cold water on Western hopes that the Kremlin may be prepared to negotiate a system of observation posts to prevent surprise attack and accidental war.

U.S. Cautions China To Avoid French Break

France off this potential hook.

Rusk, therefore, is reported to have advised the Chinese ambassador as emphatically as possible that Nationalist China should refrain from any hasty breaking of ties and recalling of its diplomats from Paris.

Eelay, U.S. officials feel, would make it possible to learn Red China's real attitude on the two-China question. If the Reds will not tolerate the kind of arrangement De Gaulle believes he has it will be up to France to make the break.

Annoyed at U.S. foreign policymakers are by De Gaulle's decision, they see no worthwhile retaliatory course open to the United States. They are fearful that the French move may further weaken the already battered line which the United States has been trying to hold against any increase in Western trade and diplomatic ties with Red China.

They recognize also that the line against increasing industrial trade with Cuba and the restraints which the United States has tried to maintain on long-term credits to Russia may be further weakened.

De Gaulle's contention is that France cannot any longer ignore the biggest and most powerful nation in the Far East. The implication is that the U.S. policy of trying to isolate Chinese communism has proved bankrupt.

Judge Harper Presides Over Heavy Docket

Judge W. M. Harper presided over a heavy docket in Monroe City Court Friday, fining two persons $350 or seven months in jail for theft.

They were Fred Graves, 22, of Litroe; and Jimmy Jones, 40, Negro, of 203 1/2 14th St., Monroe. Jones was also fined $30 or 30 days for public drunkenness.

Several other theft cases were also processed. Linda Dartline, 18, 605 Natchitoches St., West Monroe, forfeited a $100 bond for this offense. Herman Guy, 56, Negro, Rt. 2, Box 3, Fordyce, Ark., was fined $100 or 60 days for theft, and a similar count against L. J. Quinn Jr., 19, Negro, 300 1/2 Renwick St., Monroe, was nolle prossed.

Judge Harper sentenced James Balsamo, 22, 1214 N. 7th St., to two compulsory jail sentences of one year each for theft and crime against nature, with the terms not to run concurrently.

Discharged were counts of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving against C. L. George, 35, Negro, 1615 rear Washington St., Monroe. A charge of simple battery against Norman L. Moncrief Jr., 1004 N. 4th St., Monroe, was also discharged.

In other court action, a large number of traffic violations were handled by Judge Harper.

a local resident, two policemen went out to investigate. They shined their flashlights under the house and quickly discovered the source of the "strange noises" — a black cat with a jar stuck on its head. The cat was trapped under the house and was banging against pipes in its efforts to escape.

The guardians of law and order rescued the animal, freed it of the jar and assured the homeowner that he would have no more trouble with this particular "prowler."

Volunteers

Members of the West Monroe Fire Department have volunteered their services to collect for the March of Dimes today.

Firemen will be stationed at the intersection of North 7th and Cypress streets from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Doctors Give Account Of Fatal Wounds

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Physicians writing in the Texas State Journal of Medicine told Friday how President John F. Kennedy died despite a desperate half-hour of treatment by seven doctors.

All agreed that the president's injuries were too great for survival.

There was a faint heartbeat but no pulse or blood pressure when he was brought to Parkland Hospital in Dallas about 12:30 p.m. Nov. 22.

"Three Patients at Parkland" was the title of the article describing the treatment of Kennedy, Texas Gov. John B. Connally, and Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused of killing Kennedy and wounding the governor.

Oswald was fatally shot Nov. 24 by Jack Ruby whose murder trial is pending. He died in Parkland about 10 feet from the place where the president died. "Because a Texas hospital and Texas physicians figured prominently in this tragedy, the Texas State Journal of Medicine records for its readers of the medical profession a full account of treatment given a never-to-be-forgotten trio," the unsigned article said.

The Journal said it asked the attending physicians to record their separate impressions a few hours after the Nov. 22 and 24 shootings because "it was felt that the impressions of the individual participating physicians, written in a period of strain, without consideration of rhetoric, was perhaps of great value to medical history."

Some of the 13 separate accounts prepared by the doctors in the three cases included:

Dr. Charles J. Carrico, 28, a resident at Parkland and first physician to see the president—"When the patient entered the emergency room on an ambulance he had slow agonal respiratory efforts and occasional cardiac beats." Two external wounds were noted, one in the neck and the other a massive head and brain injury.

"No pulse or blood pressure were present. Pupils were dilated and fixed." A tube was inserted below the ragged neck wound, and respiration began. Fluids were introduced into his veins in the right leg and the left arm. Respiration also was started with an anesthesia machine. "Despite those measures blood pressure never returned. Only brief electrocardiographic evidence of cardiac activity was obtained."

Dr. Charles R. Baxter, 34, Parkland resident and assistant professor of surgery at Southwestern Medical School, Dallas—

"The pupils were fixed and deviated laterally and were dilated. No pulse was detectable and ineffectual respirations were being assisted. When all of these measures were complete, no heartbeat could be detected. Due to the extensive and irreparable brain damage which existed and since there were no signs of life, no further attempts were made at resuscitation."

Dr. Robert N. McClelland, 34, Parkland resident—"The president was comatose from a massive gunshot wound of the head with a fragment wound of the trachea. The cause of death was the massive head and brain injury from a gunshot wound of the right side of the head."

Dr. William Kemp Clark, 38, Parkland resident and chairman of the Division of Neurosurgery at Southwestern Medical School where he has done research on head injuries—

"The president had bled profusely from the back of the head. There was a large amount of cerebral tissue present on the (emergency room) cart. Much of the right posterior skull, at brief examination, appeared gone. The president was pronounced dead at 1 p.m."

Dr. M. T. Jenkins, 46, resident and chairman of the Department of Anesthesiology at Southwestern Medical School—"It is Dr. Jenkins' personal feeling that all methods of resuscitation were instituted expertly and efficiently. However, he says, the cranial and intracranial damage was of such magnitude as to cause irreversible damage."

Dr. Malcolm O. Perry, 34, surgeon, and Dr. Fouad A. Bashour, 39, associate professor of medicine in cardiology, also assisted in the treatment.

Leukemia Fund Drive Chairman Is Named Here

The Ouachita Parish leukemia fund raising drive for 1964, under direction of the Knights of Columbus, will be headed by Al Dohmann of the Monroe council.

The parish council has set a goal of $5,000 for the Aid to Leukemia Stricken American Children (ALSAC).

Dohmann said the campaign "is a drive to help all children regardless of race, creed or religion, and I am going to ask that each organization of our parish assign me one co-chairman."

He urged all citizens to contribute for support of the foundation hospital in Memphis.

"Our contribution of money and time is invested not in just a hospital, but in the knowledge that this hospital will be able to give our doctors that may save lives," he said.

The drive is to start sometime in March.

Educator Bans Homework Used As Punishment

NEW YORK (UPI)—Acting Associate School Superintendent Truda T. Weil Friday was the sweetheart of 600,000 New York public school students. She banned homework in the city's elementary schools as punishment for misbehavior in classes.

Miss Weil, in a board of education policy statement, said homework should be adapted to the needs of students and related to class activities.

She issued the statement after complaints from parents that some teachers had given students homework merely as a punitive measure.

Murder Trial T.V. Question Brings Impasse

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—A state court judge refused to act Friday on a new trial for Wilbert Rideau, a convicted killer who won reversal on the grounds a television interview could have prejudiced the jury.

Judge Cecil Cutrer said the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling for a new trial created a judicial impasse.

On the one hand:

The Supreme Court ruled that Rideau, a Negro, was entitled to a trial outside the range of Television Station KPLC. The station televised an interview in which Rideau admitted knife to death Mrs. Julia Ferguson after a Lake Charles bank robbery.

On the other hand: Station KPLC covers 12 parishes (counties) in southwest Louisiana, and Louisiana law prescribes that a change in venue must go no farther away than the adjoining parish.

As this court interprets the rule," Cutrer said, "the U.S. Supreme Court is saying that it is constitutionally impossible to give the defense a fair trial within the range of television station KPLC."

"That court is ruling that every citizen who lived within the range of that station within Rideau's interview was broadcast was automatically ineligible to sit as jurors on his trial."

Rideau was under death sentence when the Supreme Court ruled.

Di-T. Atty. Frank Salter, who sought the change in venue as a first step toward starting another trial, said he would appeal Cutrer's ruling to the Louisiana Supreme Court.

The Rideau case has been compared to problems faced in bringing Jack Ruby to trial at Dallas for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald. Millions saw the slaying—either on live television or on replays of the film.

Protestants Set Record Goal For 'One Great Hour'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The World Church Service announced Friday Protestant denominations have set a record-breaking goal of $17,988,351 for their annual "one great hour of sharing" appeal to help homeless, hungry and destitute persons in 44 countries.

The goal is $1,142,211 over 1963's appeal by the World Church Service, a part of the National Council of Churches. The highlight of this year's fund raising drive will be observances by more than 94,000 individual congregations throughout the nation on Sunday, March 8.

This is the sixteenth annual concerted appeal of major denominations working together to help relieve suffering overseas.

During the past year funds were used to help Haitian survivors of hurricane Flora and victims of the Skopje, Yugoslavia earthquake. Other help was sent to victims of fires, floods, cyclones, drought, famine, volcanic eruptions in Asia, Africa, the Middle East, Europe, Latin America and the Caribbean.

Peron Steadfast On '64 Return To 'Fatherland'

How To Keep Well

By THEODORE VAN DELLEN

AMEBAS IN THE INTESTINE

Amoebiasis flourishes where sanitation is poor. At one time, physicians overlooked the condition frequently because it was regarded as a tropical disease. This view changed in 1933 when the news broke that Chicago was host to the largest epidemic in the country.

Changing the name from amoebic dysentery to amoebiasis made the medical profession more aware of the disorder. Dysentery is not too common and when the symptom occurs, it lasts only a few days. Amoebiasis is never would be considered if we waited for dysentery to develop. Most victims of the disease tend to be constipated and complain of abdominal tenderness, distention, gas, weakness, and insomnia. The manifestations may not appear until years after exposure.

This infection is caused by a single-celled organism (ameba) too small to be seen without the aid of a microscope. It lives in the intestine and multiplies by dividing into two, four, eight, and so on.

The progeny leave the colon encased in a protective coating that allows them to exist until swallowed by someone else. This takes place when the cysts contaminate the food or water supply. Prevention is a matter of education in basic hygiene and explains why we warn against eating uncooked vegetables and unboiled water in areas where sanitation is lax or nonexistent.

Diagnosis is made by finding the amoebic cysts in stool specimens. The culprit may not be uncovered in one or two specimens, which means that in suspected cases, most physicians examine at least six.

Various remedies are available but emetine is the old reliable when symptoms are present. The drug is tricky to use because serious side reactions occur when too much is taken. But it usually works so well, older physicians often used it as a diagnostic test. Amoebiasis was considered as the cause if abdominal distress was relieved within a week after taking the product. Among other remedies are hydroxyquinoline, chloroquine, and the antibiotics.

Presented a certificate as "Old Monarch" member was Henry G. Taliaferro.

Research Grant Will Be Given Louisiana Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech will receive a $5,700 grant for research in counseling according to the Cooperative Research Branch of the U. S. Department of Health, Welfare and Education.

The project, "Guidance Services and the Role of the Counselor," will be directed by Dr. W. L. Bergeron of the school of education.

The study will attempt to determine duties performed by counselors and their opinions on the effectiveness of the services.

Research in this area has been of interest to guidance personnel in Louisiana as well as the American Personnel and Guidance Assn. and the Counseling Division of the American Psychological Assn.

It is anticipated that this research will result in a monograph for distribution throughout the United States.

The research, covering one year, will begin within the next few weeks with a questionnaire being mailed to school officials. During the fall semester, Dr. Bergeron will interview counselors in each of the congressional districts of the state.

Dr. Bergeron has been a member of the Tech staff for several years and is psychology adviser and associate professor. He has received recognition for his efforts in psychology and counseling and is president-elect of the Louisiana Guidance Assn.

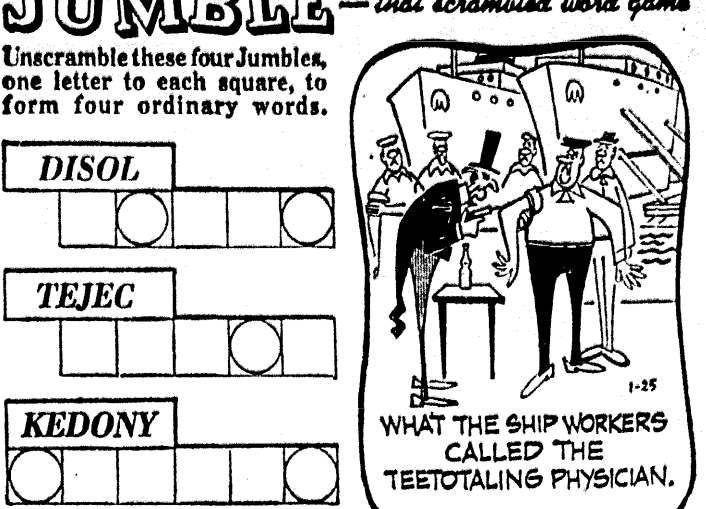

This is the first supported research to be awarded to the School of Education at Tech and is the third grant which Dr. Bergeron was instrumental in obtaining for the college here.

MEXICAN WHITE SLAVERS

Girl Ring Member Cried For Mother

SAN FRANCISCO DEL RINCON, Mexico (AP) — Maria Mehia, at 14 world wide, dropped her eyes and said quietly:

"Every night I cried and prayed my mother would find me, but I was afraid she never would."

Maria sat in the police station of this small town in central Mexico with 11 other girls who police say they rescued from a prostitution ring.

At least 17 other girls weren't so lucky. The bodies of some and charred bones of others have been found in the surrounding area. Two matronly sisters who allegedly headed the ring are accused of having killed them during disciplinary beatings.

Maria said she was lured from her home in Guadalupe by a promise of a job as a servant.

The other girls, all older than Maria, told similar stories.

"We were poor," Maria said, "and we didn't have too much to eat sometimes. My mother said she didn't want me to have to leave home but that I would be better off."

Instead of the promised work as a servant, Maria said, she was taken to an isolated ranch where she was raped by one of the ring's members.

She was 13 at the time. During a year in the ring's control, Maria said, she was taken from one place to another, beaten frequently and watched constantly.

The ranch near here was the ring's main disciplinary center, she said.

There police dug up three bodies the day they launched an investigation into the ring's activities last week.

The investigation was set off by Maria's and two other mothers whose daughters had disappeared.

The women had followed clues and rumors for months and went to Leon, the city nearest San Francisco del Rincon, after hearing that their daughters had been seen in houses of prostitution operated by two sisters. Police located the sisters through tipsters.

The search for bodies began when the girls told of disappearances.

"When a girl would get sick from not being given enough to eat and being beaten so badly, she would be taken from the room where we were locked up and we would never see her again," Maria said.

"We would be told that the girl was going to the hospital."

The accused ring leaders face five charges of homicide and other counts. Ten others are charged as accomplices.

Residents of this town of 20,000 population are trying to help the girls. A collection box stands in the police station for contributions for food and clothes for the girls now, and transportation to their homes later.

Says Maria:

"When I go home I'm going to stay real close to my mama. I don't think I'll ever get out of her sight again."

Negroes Attempt To Register At Private School

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Negroes tried Friday to enroll at one of the all-white private schools where pupils receive state aid.

It was the first attempt by Negroes to crack the grant in aid system — Louisiana's last-ditch effort to preserve school segregation.

Officials at the school, the Ninth Ward Elementary in New Orleans, turned away the Negroes, saying the head of the school was out.

A. P. Tureaud Sr., chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Louisiana, said they would try again.

The Ninth Ward Elementary is one of the private, segregated schools springing up after the state set up a program of financial aid for children who didn't want to attend desegregated public schools.

The Legislature set up the grant in aid system after some New Orleans public schools desegregated in 1960.

Under the system, parents may enroll their children in a private school and receive up to $2 per child per school day from the state to defray tuition costs.

The state spent $2,425,000 on the system last year. Approximately 9,000 children—the vast majority of them in New Orleans—are on the rolls. There 48 schools with pupils receiving the aid—45 of them in New Orleans. A few of the schools are for Negroes only.

New Orleans and Baton Rouge are the only Louisiana cities with desegregation below the college level.

Officials at the school said the director, Armand Duvois, was out of the city and would return Monday. They declined further comment.

Tureaud told a newsman: "We will look into this matter with a view of getting them admitted to this school."

"We take the position that this is a public school operating under the guide of a private school."

He said the Negroes were Lorraine Poindexter and her 7-year-old son, and Robert Cole and his 11-year-old daughter and 10-year-old son.

HAYNESVILLE, 70-35

Neville Gets 26th Win Of Season

HAYNESVILLE (Special) — Neville's defending double-A state champs brought their classy cage show to Haynesville Friday night and promptly proceeded to rack up victory number 26 for the season and keep their 2-AA state clean by easily rolling past the Golden Tornadoes, 70-35.

"That formula for 'instant victory' will face a stern test for at least a week now as the Bengals face two crucial league games next week. Tuesday night Neville takes on the ever-improving Tigers of Jonesboro there and is on the road again Friday night, meeting Ruston at the Louisiana Tech Memorial gymnasium.

Coach Benny Hollis' Tigers now stand 26-2 overall and 3-0 in league action.

Neville got its usual offensive performance against Haynesville and, even more pleasant for Hollis, another stirring defensive effort which limited the Tornadoes to single-figure totals for the first three quarters.

Neville jumped out to a 13-5 first quarter lead and upped it to 30-13 by halftime as the hometown crew managed just eight points in the second frame.

However the third quarter was the most disheartening for Haynesville as it scored a meager two points. Neville tallied 21 and had things wrapped up.

Joe Canal was on the beam and led all scorers with 22 points. He also led in shooting percentage with 11 of 21 shots for a 52 per cent. J. Dood Brooks was second with 17 points and John Garrett had 14.

Malcolm Smith had a sub-par round in the scoring department, netting only seven points, but the talented cager led all rebounders with 17 grabs. Gary Holt was second with 15.

Scholarship Battle Seems Main Reason

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia Tech dramatically withdrew from the Southeastern Conference Friday before a startled group of SEC presidents could take any action on the controversial scholarship limit.

Tech had been expected to leave the 12-member conference if the SEC presidents voted to retain the rule that no school may have more than 140 athletes under scholarship at any one time.

But before the meeting could get started, Dr. Edwin Harrison stood up and announced Tech's withdrawal. The Tech president gave as his reason the fact that the school did not want to issue an ultimatum to the SEC—either the rules goes or Tech goes.

He added: "Our action neither indicates nor implies criticism of other institutions or of the conference, but rather acknowledges a uniqueness of our situation."

Georgia Tech has been in the SEC since it was formed in 1933.

Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech's football coach, said the 140 rule was the crux of the matter.

"We would have stayed in if this rule had been lifted," he said. "A careful survey of prospective student athletes and a well-planned program of tutoring for all that needed it after their arrival has cut our losses of scholarship-athletes to a figure much below that of most conference schools."

"This has resulted in limiting our recruiting program to the extent that we feel we cannot comply with the rule and continue to field a respectable team. This is not fair to our school, our alumni, our players, or anyone connected with the program."

Tech's action becomes effective June 30, but will not affect the games Tech already has scheduled with SEC teams.

Commissioner Bernie Moore said the conference will remain at 11 teams until next year's meeting. He thus ruled out the possibility that Florida State or Memphis State might join the league this year.

Harrison shook hands with Moore at a news conference. "We still love you, Bernie," he said.

Harrison was asked about the possibility of Tech's return to the conference if a committee appointed to study the 140 rule returns a recommendation that the rule be dropped next year.

"I'd hate to go through this again," he answered.

Harrison said that Tech would be very cautious about considering entering any new conference.

"We would face the same problems," he said. "No other technological school in the country has the same problems we have trying to play football."

In other SEC business: A proposal by Alabama that the amount a participating team receives from playing in a bowl game be raised from $100,000 to $115,000 was passed 6-5. Georgia Tech did not vote.

And a proposal that the number of football scholarships per year be reduced from 45 to 40 was passed.

Centenary's Gentlemen Invade Louisiana Tech

RUSTON (Special) — The tall and talented Gentlemen from Centenary College invaded the Ruston Memorial gymnasium here tonight to battle Louisiana Tech in what will be the first of three non-conference games for the Bulldogs.

Tech meets Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg, Miss. Jan. 31 then hosts the same Southern team here Feb. 7 before returning to league action Feb. 10 at Northwestern.

The Gents, a towering crew, are paced by 6-7 sophomore Tom Kerwin. The Long Branch, New Jersey whiz is averaging 25 points a game and canned 39 against Tennessee Tech in his last outing.

Others in the tall forward trio are 6-6 Cecil Upshaw and 6-5 Barrie Haynie. Upshaw is averaging 14.1 points a game and Haynie 11.2.

Centenary has a 7-5 season record and is riding a three game winning streak. Tech is also 7-5 overall, the Bulldogs most successful mark at this stage in several years. The Canines are also 4-1 in Gulf States Conference play.

The hosting Rams closed the opening period with a 15-6 lead and ended the half 26-18, out front.

Ouachita's girls also met defeat as Bastrop took a 44-35 win on Mary Rogers 19 points with teammate Sally Lang adding 15.

Leslie Leath powered the Monroe girls with 18 points.

In the boys outing, Bastrop put its stiff defense into use to hold down Ouachita scoring so well that the Lions' Dennis Crawley, usually among the high scorers, failed to hit the net at all.

Tom Holmer paced Bastrop's lead with 17 points with Ricky Head getting 12, Jerry Harper 11, and James Blackwell 12.

DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD JOB

Ralph Lane Is Added To Tribe's Grid Staff

Ralph Lane, head football coach and athletic director at Denham Springs High School, has been named assistant football coach at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Announcement of Lane's appointment was made Friday by Dixie White, Northeast athletic director and head football coach, who said Lane's primary responsibility would be the defensive backfield.

Lane replaces Bob DeMoss, who resigned from the Northeast staff this week to become field representative for an athletic equipment company.

Born in West Monroe, Lane grew up in Alexandria and graduated from Bolton High School. He was an all-around athlete at Louisiana College and a halfback on the football team.

After graduation from Louisiana College in 1953, he became assistant football coach at LaGrange High School in Lake Charles. He served at LaGrange under head coaches Doug Hamley and Jimmy Austin until the spring of 1963, when he was named athletic director and head grid coach at Denham Springs last fall was four vic-

The new Northeast coach is a member of the Baptist Church, is married to the former Ann Walden of Pineville and has three children — two boys, ages eight and four, and a 22-month-old daughter.

"We feel extremely fortunate to have obtained the services of Ralph Lane," White said Friday. "He did an outstanding job at Denham Springs last fall and as an assistant at LaGrange. We're looking forward to a fine association and I'm happy to welcome him to our staff."

White said he hoped to have an announcement on the balance of the Northeast staff in the near future.

Northeast President George T. Walker also welcomed Lane to the college staff and expressed appreciation to DeMoss for his service.

"Mr. DeMoss has been an asset to Northeast State and we appreciate his contributions to our institution during his tenure here," Dr. Walker said. "He has accepted a splendid position elsewhere and leaves us with all of our good wishes."

LUCKY INTERNATIONAL GOLF

Arnie Fires To Forefront; Hits Irons 'Close To Holes'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hitting his irons "real close to the holes," Arnold Palmer shot to the top spot in the $50,000 Lucky International Golf Tournament at the midway point Friday with a five-under-par 66 and 133.

He scored five birdies and his longest putt on any one of them was only six feet. Twice he approached within a foot of the cup and once within two feet.

Palmer's tremendous feat with the irons set him one stroke ahead of Don January, who had a 68 and 134.

Mason Rudolph, from Lehigh Acres, Fla., carded a 67 for 135. A stroke back at 136 came Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., and Raymond Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill., each with a second round over the par 36-35-71 Harding Park course.

After the 36 holes, the field was cut to the leading 80 pros. It took a score of 147 to remain in the tournament. Defending champion Jack Burke Jr. went out with a 74-75-149.

Palmer who won a record $128,230 in 1963 but didn't qualify for the Crosby tournament finals last Sunday, said, "I think this was my finest round in the Lucky."

However, the records show he did have a 66 for the first round in 1961 when he finished eighth. His best showing here.

During the second round, Palmer hit within a foot of the cup on the 385-yard fifth hole with a No. 9 iron, setting up his first birdie. He approached within six on the seventh for his second.

Champagne Tony Lama, tied with January at 66 after the first round, sagged to a 74 and 140. Jerry Sealsmith matched Palmer's 67 opening round and carded a 70 around this 6,722-yard layout for 137.

Jack Rule Jr. also finished at 137 with a 68.

Followed by the San Francisco regiment of Arnie's Army, which often yelled "Charge."

Commission Recommends Shifting Narcotics War To Justice Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special commission recommended Friday shifting the war on narcotics to the Justice Department and stepping up the attack with an expanded army of agents armed with limited wiretapping powers.

The commission also proposed to put far greater emphasis on rehabilitation of persons convicted of drug crimes.

"The illegal traffic in drugs," the commission said, "should be attacked with the full power of the federal government. The price of participation in this traffic should be prohibitive. It should be made too dangerous to be attractive."

This was the first of three general statements of objectives by the President's Advisory Commission on Narcotics and Drug Abuse. President John F. Kennedy set it up with the seven members under the chairmanship of former Chief Justice E. Barrett Prettyman of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. It's what society demands of them. In these instances, penalties should be applied according to the principles of our present code of justice. When the penalties involve imprisonment, however, the rehabilitation of the individual, rather than retributive punishment, should be the major objective."

With respect to the last point, one of 25 recommendations said that present requirements of stiff, mandatory minimum sentences and a ban on probation and parole should be retained for offenders smuggling or selling large quantities of drugs for sale. It said these are heinous crimes.

When only small quantities are involved, it said, there should be some term in prison but no mandatory minimum sentence and no denial of a hope of parole.

The commission aimed its report not only at such commonly known narcotics as heroin, morphine and cocaine but also at certain "so-called tranquilizers" and other drugs which it said have a psychotoxic and poisoning effect when improperly used.

The commission said its first recommendation, basic to all the others, was that the President order federal executives to start immediate, aggressive action in the national interest against the problem of narcotic and drug abuse. It said he should develop better ways of curbing the illegal flow of narcotics, should appoint a special assistant in this field.

It proposed creation of a United States-Mexico commission to develop better ways of curbing the illegal flow of narcotics, marijuana and dangerous drugs.

It suggested that the United States ask the United Nations to establish a system of international control over the distribution of dangerous drugs.

It's unanimous report was dated Nov. 1 and released Friday by the White House.

The commission's other two points were these:

"The individual abuser should be rehabilitated. Every possible effort should be exerted toward this end. Where necessary to protect society, this may have to be done at times against the abuser's will. Pertinent to all the causes of drug abuse must be found and eradicated.

"Drug users who violate the law by small purchases or sales should be made to recognize what society demands of them. In these instances, penalties should be applied according to the principles of our present code of justice. When the penalties involve imprisonment, however, the rehabilitation of the individual, rather than retributive punishment, should be the major objective."

If you've got carpeting that extends to your front door, you've probably got a problem from muddy feet. You can solve this and save wear and tear on your carpet. Have a small area of the carpet cut away just inside the door. In its place, install ceramic mosaic or quarry tile. Real tile is durable and easy to clean, and this technique can create the effect of an entry hall in a house not having one.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Handy Nylon Net Has Many Household Uses

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Here are some ideas for nylon net or mesh. (This is bought at your dime or department store or mail order house for less than 40¢ a yard and is 72 inches wide.)

This is the greatest thing when used in the kitchen for straining liquids, soups, vegetables, fats, etc.

I strain all liquids from my vegetables and use the liquid to moisten my dog's dinner. The dog really enjoys the meal which are flavored this way. I have either place a piece of nylon net in my colander, or I cover a coffee tin with it, loosely (and fasten with a rubber band) and strain the juice into the tin.

Nylon net is wonderful as a sewing aid in the place of expensive interfacing and will take the place of horsehair in a hem or collar as long as the material is not too sheer.

Nylon net can be used to cover a mat for a picture, or to cover cardboard for a modern-type frame.

Nylon net can be used to tie separate vegetables into bundles and they can be cooked in the same pot of water (cauliflower cooked in a net-lined pan can be lifted out without breaking) etc.

Herbs, tied into bundles can be added or removed during cooking.

I keep a piece of nylon net with my floor cleaning equipment to pick up the dirt in the hard-to-get-at corners and spots. I then follow up with the usual sponge, etc.

Old, runny nylon stockings are also useful. So don't throw them away. They make wonderful hair nets, when slit lengthwise and tied turban style around your head! I set my hair in rollers two hours before retiring, and then (as I cannot sleep with rollers) I remove the rollers and insert a bobby pin in the curl. I then tie a nylon stocking over it all.

In the morning I brush the curls into a set and it stays that way for days, if I have a good basic home permanent. Of course, I use a nylon stocking to keep my hair set in place each night.

B.D.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Recently we bought an extra-long bed. Our electric blanket was a regular bed length, so all that extra length which we bought on our bed ended up above our heads as we "scooted down" to keep warm.

I sewed 16 inches (from an old sheet) the bottom of our electric blanket and tucked this in, under the mattress. Now we have an extra-long electric blanket. (I hope everyone knows that you do NOT sew through an electric wire!)

Edmonds

Dear Heloise: I asked the dean at our state university "What is the bleaching agent in grass?" His reply was "green grass in the presence of sunshine gives off nascent chlorine, which is a bleaching agent."

A Reader

Dear Heloise: Remember your suggestion telling us to pour boiling water over a soap-filled pad, cover it, and let it set over night and then the pad could be used over and over without getting rusty? You also told us the resulting "goop" could be used for many things.

We use stainless steel flatware for every day and found that the bowls from our tea spoons were getting a little stained from coffee and tea so I soaked them for a few minutes in your "goop." After a wipe with a paper towel, they were shining and clean again!

Dear Heloise: If you have a small amount of coffee in your canister, pour it into a bowl or onto a piece of waxed paper. Since coffee oils become rancid, wash the container thoroughly and dry it. Pour in a can of fresh coffee and put the older coffee on TOP of the fresh coffee.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Care of the hands is not as crucial as care of the feet so far as comfort and health is concerned, but it is most important when considering our appearance. A woman may be beautifully groomed otherwise, but if her nail polish is chipped or the cuticle about her nails ragged, the picture is spoiled.

Today many chic women prefer clear polish to colored polish, at least for daytime wear. Of course you cannot possibly keep your nails in good repair without a weekly manicure, whether you give it to yourself or have it done by a professional.

Then there is the special treatment which keeps the skin of the hands soft. This is even more important during dry cold weather. Cars are heated so well today that it is a temptation to put your gloves in your pocket or pocketbook, and then dash in and out of the car.

Wear rubber gloves when you must have your hands in water while doing housework. Always apply a hand lotion after washing your hands. Wear gloves whenever going outdoors. If you have extremely dry hands massage a good cream into them and then sleep in cotton gloves a few nights a week. If you have hangnails then the cuticle about your nails is too dry. Massage a cuticle cream or oil into the cuticle each night. This will make a big difference!

There are exercises which will help keep the hands flexible and will promote graceful movement. Try these:

1. Double your fists up and then fling your fingers out and back. Continue, clenching and flinging.
2. Pretend that a table is a piano and play on it. Just make up your own tune. Sing a song.

COLLECTOR'S WALL GIVES CHARACTER TO ROOM — Architecturally conceived wall of shelves (broken by a pair of doors) dominates the decor in a room designed by John Bedenkapp. Books are only one item featured. Pre-Columbian figures well lit from above are strung along the top shelf. Elsewhere on the shelves are examples of Etruscan and Egyptian sculptures. Room has decidedly modern look despite the fact that chairs and couch, as well as Franklin stove (right) and circular staircase have roots in tradition. Unusual doll pillows on couch are by the well-known artist Marisol.

Walls Important Factor In Interior Decoration

By BETTY PEPIS

What gives any room an up-to-date modern look? After examining this question in the light of hundreds of interiors seen in the year just past, this reporter has come to the conclusion that it is not the furniture, nor the flooring, nor any of the innumerable other fixings that go into a room — it is in effect what is done with the walls.

These may be picture window walls which give a new look to any room no matter what its contents. Or they can be art walls that phenomenon common to this decade which is not only a continuing but also a growing trend. Or they can be what we choose to call the "cluttered wall" — that scattering of shelves stacked with a conglomerate mixture of books and objects, arts and crafts which seem to the favorite of designers the world over.

The first of these three we shall not dwell upon since it can be acquired only with the purchase or rental of a new home, but the next two can be installed in any room and will update the whole look of the interior decoration in it — even without changing another single piece.

To take the art wall: that calculated grouping of unrelated art works can dominate a room, give it character, grow along with the changing tastes and new experiences of the home occupants. Because it depends for effectiveness not so much upon the value of any single ingredient but upon the effectiveness of a massed composition, it can even begin with a minimum investment.

The newest art walls do not depend upon pictures alone but also include three dimensional objects. Included in them of late we have seen wooden carvings (things like column capitals as well as figures) a collection of medals won for horsemanship, strung on thongs of leather, Mrs. Warren Spillers, Mrs. Sam Hanna, Mrs. Odie Fontenot, Mrs. Bobby Bruce, Mrs. Harry Cooper, Mrs. Allen H. Coon, Mrs. Jack Phillips, Mrs. Earl Tarver, Mrs. Archie D. Parker Jr., Mrs. Stanley Passman and Mrs. Ira Cagle Jr.

If the art wall seems indigenous to our own native American culture, not so with the wall of shelves. These are equally important in European interiors of recent years.

The Italian versions may seem a little trickier and fanciful, the Scandinavian ones stricter and simpler, German examples heavier and a little sturdier, but shelved walls show up in designers' homes all across the Western world and their ingredients are similarly varied. Books, but not necessarily masses of them share space with collectors' items and even at times, and a nice thought: they hold an occasional bunch of posies.

DEAR ABBY

They Should Be Told By Nut Behind The Wheel

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If girls don't want trouble with boys, why do they ask for it? I think it's disgraceful the way young girls sit so close to boys who are driving automobiles that you can't get a toothpick between them. There ought to be a law against having a girl's arms flung around the neck of a boy who is trying to drive. Where do they think they are? Paris? It isn't safe on the streets any more with all those one-armed drivers. I am not an old fogey, either. I am 31 years old. Someone should tell those brazen girls how to behave.

DISGUSTED CITIZEN
 DEAR ABBY: Yes. And it should be the nut behind the wheel.

DEAR ABBY: I am a minister and my wife thinks I have a problem. I don't care to drink anything hot. Especially coffee. (I cannot even stand the SMELL of coffee.) My wife thinks I embarrass a hostess when I refuse coffee, and ask instead for anything cold. She says a hostess goes out of her way to have a perfect meal for the preacher and when I say I don't like something it makes her feel ill at ease. Is my wife right? Must I force hot coffee down me? If not, how can I graciously refuse without embarrassing my hostess?

COLD DRINK PREACHER
 DEAR ABBY: Your wife is mistaken. A minister is just as entitled to his preferences as any other man. If you don't care for hot coffee — say so. And don't be fearful of embarrassing your hostess OR your wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am in the U. S. Navy and have been writing to this girl for over two years. We started out being just pen pals, but we have become very close through our letters. I mean it has become serious in a romantic kind of way. (Mention of marriage, etc.) We have never met face to face, but we've exchanged pictures. I just found out that she was only 13 when she started writing to me (she said she was 18) and now she is only 15 years old. Do you think I should keep writing to her? I am almost 21.

FEELS FOOLISH
 DEAR ABBY: Yes. But in your next letter, tell her frankly that you know her age, and also that you never would have begun the pen pal relationship with her had you known she was only 13 at the time. Then taper off.

U.N. AIRLIFT FROM JUNGLE

Missionaries Taken From Congo Area

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — A U.N. airlift Friday flew seven American missionaries and two children from the jungles east of Leopoldville where guerrillas have been on a rampage of murder and arson.

Two U.N. helicopters and a plane carried them 300 miles from their burned-out mission in Kivu Province to Luluabourg in the central Congo. Three Roman Catholic nuns were flown out with them.

Crews of the two helicopters used in the first leg of the journey reported they ran into trouble when they landed at the mission at Kandeale, about halfway between Leopoldville and Luluabourg.

Apparently the trouble was with marauders or the guerrillas themselves, but the report didn't say. But the crewmen reported there were no casualties "on either side."

The mission at Kandeale apparently was burned Thursday and the Americans had to wait through the night for rescue.

A small detachment of U.N. Nigerian soldiers was flown from Leopoldville at dawn to guard the missionaries pending rescue. The helicopters flew the missionaries 90 miles to Tshikapa, a diamond center. Then a plane took them on to Luluabourg, about 550 miles east of Leopoldville.

The guerrilla attacks started in the province last week with the killing of three Belgian priests at Kilemba, near Kandeale. The fate of a fourth priest, away at the time of the attack, was not known.

The guerrillas are led by Pierre Mulele, pro-Peking aide of Antoine Gizenga, the Congolese separatist leader now jailed by the central government.

The Protestant mission at Kandeale was operated by the Evangelical Congo Inland Mission, with headquarters in Elkhart, Ind.

District Judge Here Handles Several Cases

Seven cases involving persons driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages were handled by Judge Jesse S. Heard in Fourth District Court Friday.

Fined $300 and costs on DWI charges were Eddie Boatner, 8 Solomon Alley, Monroe; Lee Edward Allen, Greenville, Miss.; Harvey W. Johnston, 311 Stone Ave., Monroe; and John Laurel Ford, 207 Louisville Ave., Monroe.

Sammie Huckabee, Rt. 2, West Monroe, forfeited a $500 bond on a DWI charge. Willie L. Martin, 2300 Jonesboro Road, West Monroe, was fined $300 plus costs on one DWI count, and another $300 and costs plus 125 days in jail for a second DWI offense.

Willie R. Starr, 4006 Church St., Monroe, was fined $300 and costs for DWI, plus 125 days in jail, being a second offender.

Continued without date was the trial of Ragan Fowler, 600 Monroe, Ruston, who is charged with simple battery. Judge Heard also continued the trial of Larry H. Hamilton, 515 McCain Dr., Monroe, until Feb. 21. Hamilton is charged with simple battery.

A number of other minor violations were handled. James Gibson, 613 S. 5th St., Monroe, was fined $250 and costs in Fourth District Court Wednesday for malicious mischief, rather than criminal mischief as previously reported in a court story published Thursday.

Police Probe Link In New Stranglings

OAKLAND, Calif., (UPI) — Police probed the possibility Friday there was a connection between the slaying of an Oakland mother and daughter Wednesday and 12 unsolved stranglings in and near Boston.

Lt. John Donovan, chief of the Boston homicide division, arrived here to confer with Oakland police investigating the strangling of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Martin, 43, Oakland's "Mother of the Year" in 1963, and her daughter, Carolyn, 18.

The Martins were formerly from Martins Ferry, Ohio. Donovan said he brought copies of fingerprints found at the scene of some of the Massachusetts slayings and other "things" connected with the case.

He said there were numerous similarities in the crimes, including the use of women's stockings in strangling, the victims' connection with hospitals, the position of the dead women, absence of signs of forced entry into the apartments and indications that the killings were the work of a sexual deviate.

Oakland police meanwhile found some possible clues in Martin home when they discovered fingerprints and a few strands of human hair. They said some of the fingerprints belonged to members of the family, but there was a good chance some were left by the person, or persons, who strangled the two victims.

Police technicians said the strands of hair were from several different persons, and they also found fibers from different materials and a small fragment of metal which may have come from the clip of a pen or pencil.

Oakland Police Lt. Robert Ford said all known burglars in the area will be questioned as well as all known sex offenders. Carolyn, a coed at Chico State College home on vacation, had been raped.

Police did not discount the possibility that more than one man was involved in the crime since it would have taken great physical ability for one man to subdue both women.

The bodies of the two victims were discovered Wednesday afternoon by a second daughter, Susan, 17, when she came home from high school. Both bodies were "hog-tied" on the living room floor. Mrs. Martin with an electrical cord and Carolyn with nylon stockings.

Each body had a noose around the neck with one end tied to the big toe of the right foot.

Dr. Frank Martin, a prominent osteopathic physician whose wife and daughter were the victims, said the slayings "were obviously the work of a psychopath. I don't feel he could be anything else."

Elector Plan To Get Another Twist For '64

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Sen. Harold Montgomery of Doyle, champion of the independent elector move, said Friday a new bill will be prepared for the 1964 legislature.

A major feature, Montgomery said, would shift a proposed July 25 vote on two rival slates of electors until after the national Democratic convention in August.

The July 25 date was adopted by the old Democratic State Central Committee, with one set of electors apparently pledged to the national party nominee and the other to an independent candidate.

The people thus would choose the slate for the November general election.

2-Day Optimist District Session To Begin Here

Dr. S. Hunter Rentz of Columbia, S. C. will be one of several speakers at a district board meeting of Optimist International this weekend at the Penn Hotel.

An international director, Dr. Rentz will join Charles (Buddy) Campbell, district governor, of Little Rock in addressing about 100 delegates from Louisiana and Arkansas.

The District 34 board meeting is being hosted by the Monroe Optimist Club. Odis Fontenot, zone lieutenant governor of the Monroe club, is the chairman.

Dr. Rentz, a physician, has been active in Optimist International for several years. Campbell, an insurance company executive, is a former president of the Little Rock club.

With registration beginning this morning, a general session is on tap at 1:30 p.m. at the Penn, followed by a banquet and dance tonight.

Major item to be discussed is the division of the Louisiana-Arkansas district. As of July 1st, Louisiana will be placed in a new district.

The meeting will end Sunday afternoon following another general session in the morning and a luncheon at noon.

Smokers Must Quit Entirely, Doctor Advises

CHICAGO (UPI) — Smokers who want to stop must go all the way, not just cut down by one or two cigarettes a day, a doctor reported Friday.

Voluntary restrictions usually last only a few days, Dr. George William Ware, Washington, warned in the February issue of Today's Health, published by the American Medical Association.

He said a smoker must be personally convinced he can give up the habit because no one stops smoking by reading newspaper stories, listening to the pleas of his wife, or by making half hearted promises about next week.

Ware said the person who stops smoking at any given moment is rare and that most smokers pick a "D-day" or a target date after which they will no longer light up.

He should pick the date, said Ward, at a time when he would be away from his smoking associates, and should make his intentions a matter of public knowledge.

Ware also advised that gum and candy are useful during the first eight hours and that co-operation from the smokers wife is needed since she will bear the brunt of his irritation.

Another article in the magazine quoted Dr. Leo Bartemeier, Seton Psychiatric Institute, Baltimore, as saying that the same conditions produce a heavy smoker as cause over eating and excessive drinking.

He said these factors include an emotional need to obtain satisfaction, relieve tension and protect against anxiety.

The food, the cigarette or the alcohol is a sedative, Bartemeier reported. Some people, he said, indulge in excessive smoking to obtain the satisfaction which their work does not provide them.

Gov. Rockefeller Formally Enters March Primary

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller formally entered New Hampshire's March 10 presidential primary Friday and then chided Richard M. Nixon and other potential presidential contenders who have not openly declared their candidacy.

Rockefeller and his wife, Happy, filed nine petitions with New Hampshire's State Robert L. Stark to mark the New York Republican's official entrance into this state's first-in-the-nation presidential primary.

Only 50 signatures are needed from each of the state's two congressional districts, but it appeared that the petitions contained far more than the minimum.

Former Rep. Perkins Bass, R-N.H., became the first to file as a delegate favorable to Hospital Credit Union Elects

Two board members were elected and a certificate for meritorious service presented to another member at the third annual meeting of the St. Francis Hospital Employee Credit Union Thursday.

The meritorious service certificate was presented to Harold J. Smith in ceremonies presided over by Joe Maggio Jr., president of the credit union. Maggio, whose term of office as a board member expired this year, declined re-nomination and the group elected Mike Napoli to serve on the board in his place next year. Mrs. Graham Silverton was re-elected to a second term on the board.

Maggio announced that a 3 1/2 per cent dividend has been declared by the union, and will be recorded on statements to be sent out to each member. The meeting was held in the hospital auditorium.

There was no water. A man had broken downtown and water had to be imported in jugs for the guests.

Estey revised his speech to include an explanation of why water mains break.

Chamber Urges Letters Against Medicare Bill

Local residents Friday were asked by officials of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, working in cooperation with the Louisiana State Medical Society and the Ouachita Parish medical group, to voice their opposition to the Medicare bill pending before Congress.

Chamber President George Moses urged all chamber members and interested citizens to write to Rep. Otto E. Passman and "express your opposition to this legislation." The bill to provide hospitalization for some persons over age 65 is termed a step toward "socialized medicine," Dr. Fred Marx, a member of the Ouachita parish Medical Society, said higher taxes on low wage earners would finance the bill.

Those writing to Rep. Passman are also requested to send a copy of their letter to Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C.

"We are working with the president of the parish medical group and Dr. Marx in a double-barreled effort to procure business and professional leadership in the battle against these socialistic practices," Moses said. "The bill under attack is the same King-Anderson bill which Congress refused to pass in 1962."

Salvation Army Asks Donations To Aid Family

The local Salvation Army has issued an appeal to area residents for furniture, linen and clothing for a burned-out Negro family of West Monroe.

The Clarence Lewis family of 211 Crawford St., lost their frame home and one family member in the blaze that hit around noon Wednesday. Dying from suffocation in the burning structure was four-year-old Jimmy Lewis. Six other children were rescued.

According to Capt. Ronald Greene, local army commander, the family is now living at 101 Campbell Ln., West Monroe, and need a gas range, four beds, a chifforobe, blankets, a table, dishes and clothes. He asked that persons call FA 5-1775, Salvation Army headquarters, for clothes sizes and for pick-up and delivery of other gifts.

The father is employed as a laborer with Louisiana Power and Light Co., West Monroe, said Captain Greene.

Chamber Urges Letters Against Medicare Bill

Local residents Friday were asked by officials of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, working in cooperation with the Louisiana State Medical Society and the Ouachita Parish Medical group, to voice their opposition to the Medicare bill pending before Congress.

Chamber President George Moses urged all chamber members and interested citizens to write to Rep. Otto E. Passman and "express your opposition to this legislation." The bill to provide hospitalization for some persons over age 65 is termed a step toward "socialized medicine," Dr. Fred Marx, a member of the Ouachita parish Medical Society, said higher taxes on low wage earners would finance the bill.

Those writing to Rep. Passman are also requested to send a copy of their letter to Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C.

"We are working with the president of the parish medical group and Dr. Marx in a double-barreled effort to procure business and professional leadership in the battle against these socialistic practices," Moses said.

The bill under attack is the same King-Anderson bill which Congress refused to pass in 1962.

Salvation Army Asks Donations To Aid Family

The local Salvation Army has issued an appeal to area residents for furniture, linen and clothing for a burned-out Negro family of West Monroe.

The Clarence Lewis family of 211 Crawford St., lost their frame home and one family member in the blaze that hit around noon Wednesday. Dying from suffocation in the burning structure was four-year-old Jimmy Lewis. Six other children were rescued.

According to Capt. Ronald Greene, local army commander, the family is now living at 101 Campbell Ln., West Monroe, and need a gas range, four beds, a chiffonier, blankets, a table, dishes and clothes. He asked that persons call FA 5-1775, Salvation Army headquarters, for clothes sizes and for pick-up and delivery of other gifts.

The father is employed as a laborer with Louisiana Power and Light Co., West Monroe, said Captain Greene.

Health Council Plans For State Convention Here

The governing council of the Louisiana Public Health Association completed the group's plans for their April convention to be held in Monroe at a meeting in Alexandria Thursday.

Dr. W. Carroll Summers, head of the Ouachita Parish health department and a member of the council, said they will have guest speakers from medical schools from Louisiana State University and Tulane University, plus two from the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga., present for the convention April 9-10.

Summers attended the all-day planning meeting in Alexandria along with other Ouachita health unit employees, Madge Kelly, secretary; Osborn Willis, regional sanitarian; Mrs. M. L. Snapp, public health nurse; and Mrs. Odelle Scarborough, a clerk.

Around 300 health department persons are expected to attend the LPHA convention, which will have headquarters in the Virginia hotel.

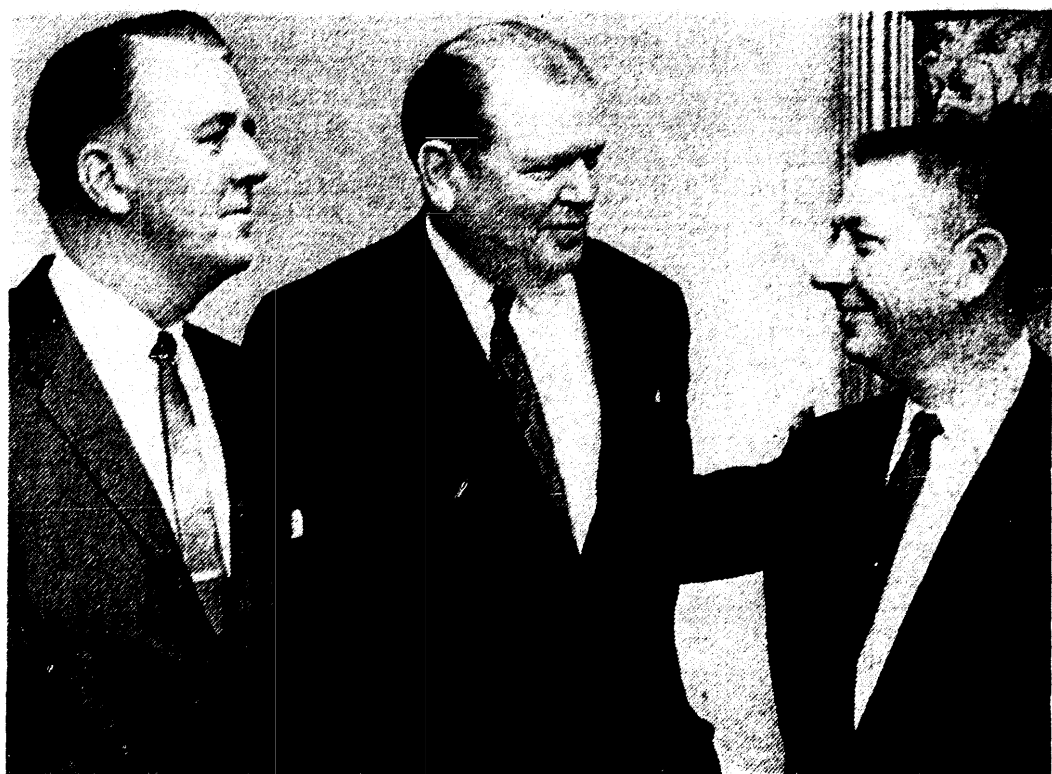

Summers said the program will include presentation of scientific papers on public health, plus seminars on public health procedures and practices. There were approximately 20 members of the LPHA Governing Council present for the planning session, including LPHA Pres. John LeMayon, of New Orleans.

CIGARETTES TOO MILD?

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Men who believe women have encroached too far into their domain are in for another disheartening blow — women are smoking cigars.

"Women are responding more and more to cigars," said Eugene L. Raymond, president of the Cigar Institute of America. Officials attending a joint meeting of the CIA and the Cigar Manufacturers of America convention held here estimated that some 60,000 American women are already smoking cigars.

One believed that it won't be too long before women begin emulating their Danish sisters and start smoking cigars in public.

Board Favors Adult Study

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Adult education received a boost Friday from the Louisiana Board of Education, but there were differences about how much.

The board allocated to parish school boards a second phase of extra funds for teachers and bus drivers.

The board voted approval of a bonding plan to get dormitory construction at the University of Southwestern Louisiana out of a stalemate.

Dr. Boyd Woodard, Lake Charles, took over as board president. He replaced William J. Dodd, whose term ran out at year-end. Dodd is unopposed as the Democratic nominee for state superintendent of education.

The board rejected objections of Supt. Shelby M. Jackson, whose term ends in May, to a proposal for the Council for a better Louisiana (CABL) to spearhead a pilot study of adult education potential.

The board voted 7-2 approval of CABL's request to seek $200,000 in funds from the Board of Liquidation of State Debt to finance the study.

Jackson said CABL and the board should push for the $500,000 sought for adult education for several years. He said the legislature had turned down the requested funds.

The state equalization funds allocated to all school systems totaled $5.1 million. The amount was set aside in the current state budget to aid schools to survive financially during transition from operations on a previous-year basis to a current-year basis.

Byron Benton, department fiscal officer, told the board 965 new teachers were hired for the new school year and paid from the $5.1 million. He said this was 135 less than the maximum number of new teachers allowed in the current budget.

The board voted to accept the recommendations of USL officials for a sale of $1,605,000 re-funding bonds and student building revenue bonds.

The bonds went to Russ and Co. Inc., and Emerson and Co. Inc., San Antonio, Tex., at an average annual interest rate of 3.835 per cent.

Leon Gary, Houma board member, won board approval of a motion to direct USL to seek to purchase from present holders outstanding bonds scheduled to be called in 1970 at a 3 per cent premium over par now.

He said the move would save $116,600.

The bond program will provide a new men's dormitory for 400 at USL and married students' housing for 50.

The board will take up building committee business today.

Orleans Papers Announce Major Office Shake-Up

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Times-Picayune and New Orleans States-Item announced major administrative changes Friday night.

John F. Tims, president and publisher of the two papers, said these changes would become effective immediately.

George W. Healy Jr., editor of The Times-Picayune, becomes executive editor of both newspapers, a new post.

Robert E. Gough moves up from business manager to general manager of The Times-Picayune Publishing Corp., which publishes the two papers. Alex S. Waller Jr., assistant business manager, succeeds Gough as business manager.

Arthur F. Felt, city editor of The Times-Picayune, becomes managing editor of The States-Item, assuming duties formerly held by Healy.

Walter G. Cowan, city editor of The States-Item, becomes managing editor of The States-Item, succeeding the late Frank C. Allen.

Wilson F. Harsdorff was named to succeed Felt as city editor of The Times-Picayune. John W. Wilds was named city editor of The States-Item, succeeding Cowan.

Tims said the changes, in part, resulted from Allen's death last December. Allen also was treasurer of the publishing corporation.

In addition to the promotions, Tims announced the election of John R. O'Meallie, advertising director, as treasurer of the corporation, succeeding Allen.

"It was fun while it lasted," Depp said.

Eddie Demands High Price

NEW YORK (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor's lawyers said Friday that singer Eddie Fisher is demanding $1 million as the price of a divorce so she can marry actor Richard Burton, but she will not pay him one thin dime.

The attorneys also ruled out the possibility of a so-called "summit meeting" between the principals of one of history's most famous triangles.

"Miss Taylor feels no useful purpose will be served by such a meeting, since she is determined not to pay money for her divorce, even if the financial demands were drastically reduced," the lawyers said.

Fisher flew to New York from Los Angeles Friday en route to Innsbruck, Austria, for the winter Olympics. Miss Taylor and Burton, who plan to go to Canada next week where Burton starts rehearsal on Hamlet, were staying at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Hollywood.

Two days ago Fisher said in Los Angeles: "To set the record straight, I have not nor would I ever demand any money from Elizabeth."

"On the other hand, I have no intention of surrendering to her and Mr. Burton the property which I own, especially in light of Elizabeth's divorce claim claiming that I 'abandoned' her."

The differences between the attorneys have arisen over the value of our respective property."

Fisher had no immediate comment on the charge by Miss Taylor's attorneys, Milton Rudin of the California firm of Gang, Tyre, Rudin & Brown, and Aaron Froesch of New York.

Frosch and Rudin said they felt "obligated" to issue a statement about the negotiations between Miss Taylor and Fisher because of the singer's public comments that he is not a house guest at the home of family friends.

The 16-year-old daughter of President Johnson rode here in an automobile from Madison, Wis., over icy, snowy roads after the storm blowing out the couple's plans to fly to Rochester.

Lucy and her "date," Jack Olson, 18, looked forward to a side trip sometime during the weekend to Maiden Rock, Wis., Olson's hometown on the banks of the Mississippi River north of Rochester.

They were houseguests of Dr. and Mrs. James Cain, friends of President and Ladybird Johnson. The Cains served as the couple's chaperones during a day-and-a-half visit on the University of Wisconsin campus.

Lucy Johnson Goes To Home Of Boy Friend

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI) — Lucy Baines Johnson, smiling and apparently enjoying a between-semester outing with her university freshman boy friend, arrived in a snowstorm late Friday to spend the weekend at a house guest at the home of family friends.

The 16-year-old daughter of President Johnson rode here in an automobile from Madison, Wis., over icy, snowy roads after the storm blowing out the couple's plans to fly to Rochester.

"The differences between the attorneys have arisen over the value of our respective property."

Frosch and Rudin said they felt "obligated" to issue a statement about the negotiations between Miss Taylor and Fisher because of the singer's public comments that he is not demanding money and that the only issues remaining to be settled involve custody and support of the children.

Miss Taylor has four children, three by previous marriages and one adopted during her marriage to Fisher.

The lawyers said custody and support has never been an issue and that Miss Taylor has not asked for alimony or child support from Fisher.

"At the outset of our negotiations, Mr. Fisher's sole demand was that Miss Taylor recognize his claim to one-half of the stock of MCL Films, the company which was co-producer of, and continues to have an ownership interest in, 'Cleopatra,'" the attorneys said.

"After we received authorization to accede to this demand, we were informed that Mr. Fisher now would only accept the sum of $750,000 tax free, and the use of an additional sum of $250,000 for 10 years."

"When we informed Miss Taylor of the new demands, she refused to consider whether or not the stock Mr. Fisher claimed was worth more or less than the $1 million involved, but took the position that she would not 'pay for a divorce' and requested us to inform Mr. Fisher and his attorneys of that position."

The lawyers said that Miss Taylor filed for a divorce last week in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, because since she has lived there since September, 1963, it was felt that was the only jurisdiction in which she could file such an action.
